HAD A CHECKERED CAREER.

A Brave Soldier But a Bad Man at Heart.

W. L. Lloyd, Son of ex-Governor Lloyd, of Maryland, Sent to Jail for Swindling.

St. Louis, Aug. 8.—William L. Lloyd arrested as a cigar swindler, was tried yesterday and sentenced to three months in jail for fraud. It has been learned that he is the son of the late ex-Gov. Lloyd of Maryland.

When his father died at Baltimore, in 1885, soon after leaving the governor's chair, his mother went to Washington and was given a good position in one of the treasury departments.

William accompanied her, but when she refused to keep him in idleness any longer he enlisted in the army. He served at Pine Ridge during the Indian outbreak, and Lloyd claims he was given a medal by Gov. Inman of Minnesota, for his bravery displayed on the field at Wounded Knee. He says he has pawned the medal.

On returning to Ft. Logan he fell in love with a married woman and on his promise to marry her she obtained a decree of divorce. Finally he drifted to St. Louis.

HELD UP IN OHIO.

Daring Bank Robbery at Columbus Grove.

Cashier T. J. Maple Shot Down by an Outlaw.

Farmer Van Debark Pierced Through and Through.

Fifteen Hundred Dollars Taken by the Murderer.

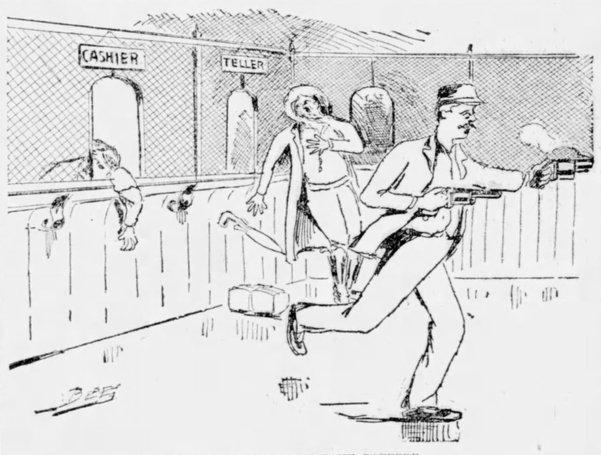
One of the Members of the Posse in Pursuit Shot.

Bands of Men Scouring the Woods to Find the Assassin Who Will Undoubtedly be Shot If Caught.

Lima, Aug. 8.—[Special.]—One of the boldest bank robberies ever perpetrated in this section of the country occurred this morning at Columbus Grove, a town of about 2,000 people, 12 miles north of here.

Cashier T. J. Maple had just opened the Exchange bank, of which his father is proprietor, and laid out $3,000 near the cashier's window.

About 8:30 a man appeared in the door with a revolver in each hand. He immediately began shooting. Cashier Maple was struck twice, once in the arm and once in the right side.



THE COLUMBUS GROVE BANK ROBBERY.

As he fell to the floor an old farmer, named Wm. Van Debark, aged 60, entered the door, having come to get his money for some hogs he had just sold.

The robber turned and shot him through and through and the old man fell dead in his tracks.

A third man sat in the lobby of the bank paralized with fear, but he was not molested.

The desperado then grabbed $1,500 in greenbacks, shoved them in the pockets of his sack coat and darted out of the door, shouting: "I'm a second Jesse James."

Quite a crowd was attracted by the sounds of the shots, but there was a scattering when the wild-eyed murderer appeared on the street waving a revolver in each hand and shooting indiscriminately.

One of the by-standers, Henry Buck, failed to get out of the way fast enough and was struck down by a bullet from the rapidly speaking revolvers.

The fellow ran to the outskirts of the town and disappeared into a big corn field.

He is described as being short and heavy set, with full face and small black moustache. He wore a black alapaca cap, black sack coat, blue pants with white stripe, and no vest.

He appeared to be about 30 or 35 years old.

A posse was quickly organized and started in pursuit.

Another posse started from West Cairo, and at this time Sheriff O'Neill and Chief of Police Aplas are organizing an armed band here to assist in the search.

If found the fellow will be shot down like a dog.

It is thought the wounds of Maple and Buck are not necessarily fatal.

Van de Bark, who was killed, was a prosperous farmer in Union township. He leaves a large family.

A big reward is offered for the capture of the villain.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

He Purchased the Revolvers in Order to Paint the Town.

Columbus Grove, O., Aug. 8.—(Special)—At 9 o'clock this morning a man went in Crawford's hardware store and asked to look at some revolvers. He selected two automatic 32 calibres and started out saying, "I'm Jesse James, the second, and I am going to paint the town red."

Crawford followed him to the door, when the revolvers were pointed at him and he was ordered to stand back.

Crawford dodged below the counter and the man walked out.

The Exchange bank is next door to the hardware store, divided by a hallway, and into the bank the fellow went.

Cashier T. J. Maple's statement follows:

"Two men were in the bank, myself and A. C. Syfert. A boyish looking fellow with a smooth face, dark brown coat and pants, and dark skull cap came in. He walked up to the wicket and pointing two revolvers said, 'I want your money.'

"I thought it was one of the town boys making sport because of so much show of firearms, and made a reply in that line, when he blazed away.

"The first shot gave me this wound in the side, the second the one in my arm and the third missed me.

"I then grabbed my revolver which only had one load in it and fired, but shot too high and missed the man.

I started out and the man went to the door and met Wm. Vandemark just coming in. He shot at him, shot once up the stairway in the hall where nobody was, once at a man driving by in a wagon and then started back into the bank.

"I was by this time standing by the cellarway. I held him at bay with my drawn revolver until he saw I could not shoot, when he blazed away twice, making eight shots fired in all.

"I dogged into the cellarway for protection and with the door partly open saw the fellow reach behind the screen and take all the money laying there he could reach, amounting as near as I can guess, to $1,200 and he deliberately put it in his pocket and walked out.

Vandemark's Statement.

"I started to go into the bank when I noticed a fellow flourishing two revolvers. He came towards me and shot once, the bullet making my wound. I turned around and went away and with the aid of my son walked to the doctor's office, a distance of 40 rods."

After this bloodthirsty attack the fellow went to the P., A. & W. depot, where two men undertook to top him, but he cleared his way by promptly drawing his shooters. He then went towards the crossing of the railroads, where he was last seen.

The news spread like wildfire and in an hour at least a hundred men were after him, loaded with every sort of weapon.

If caught there will unquestionably be no expense attending his execution. Maple has a flesh wound in the arm and a glance wound from a rib in his side, and is in no danger unless blood poisoning should set in.

Vandemark was one of the most substantial farmers. He was struck by a bullet on the right side below the ribs and is injured internally. He is vomiting blood and will probably be dead before this is printed. He cannot recover at all events.

This the most attrocious crime recorded in Northwest, was committed in broad daylight, with the streets full of people, and the horror of the situation has created such feeling that short work will be made of the man if caught.

There is an appreciation of the fact that as soon as news spread to adjoining towns, not knowing the extent of the disaster, financial aid was offered by bank cashiers from all sides, the first telegram reaching here to that effect being from Cashier Langan, of Lima.

At noon the wounded men are resting easily, and as fast as men call and look upon the dastardly work of the thief and murderer they go from the chambers of suffering, get a gun or revolver, and join in the pursuit of the fugitive.

Towns all around us were notified with speed and they are likewise forming pursuing parties and it seems impossible the miscreant shall escape.

CORNERED THE MURDERER.

Driven from His Hiding Place Into a Corn Field.

Columbus, Grove, Aug. 8.—(Special)—1:30 p. m.—A messenger just in brings intelligence that the man has been driven out of a log cabin three miles south of town, into a 20-acre corn field, and was being closed in on from all sides.

SHOT TO DEATH.

Reported that the Murderer Has Been Overtaken.

Wapakoneta, O., Aug. 8.—A telephone message just received says that the Columbus Grove bank robber was overtaken in a clump of woods near that place and shot to death.

NATURAL GAS NEWS.

Contract with the Rolling Mill Signed —Fixing the Price for Illuminating Purposes.

Yesterday the contract for the Maumee Rolling Mills was signed by Manager Hesston and President Walbridge, and last evening the gas was turned on for the first time under the new contract. Mr. Walbridge thinks that the present rate at $1 a ton is about four cents a thousand cubic feet.

A meeting of the committee on prices was to have been held this morning to fix rates for the Malleable iron works and also consider the McCaskey proposition, but owing to the absence of Mr. Brown was postponed.

At the meeting Monday evening the matter of fixing the prices per tip for illuminating purposes will come up for consideration.

There is a misunderstanding regarding the changing of connections at the city's expense. The change will be made under certain conditions.

The trailing dresses now fashionable have engaged the attention of the supreme sanitary board of Vienna. The district police commissioners were asked officially whether dresses sweeping in the mud are injurious to the public health, and whether, if forbidden, the prohibition could be enforced. The replies differed. One official suggested a special tax on trailing dresses, but he confessed that it would be difficult to collect.

BLAZE NEAR NORWALK.

A Grand Reception Tendered to Captain Kennan.

Norwalk, O., Aug. 8.—)Special)—A large barn owned by Wm. Stintz, two miles west of town burned at 5 o'clock this morning.

The barn contained about one thousand bushels of wheat.

Company G gave a handsome reception to Capt. H. L. Kennan last evening and presented him with a diamond stud, a picture of the officers of the company and resolutions of respect. Hon. L. C. Laylin made the presentation speech.

Heavy Storms.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 8.—Terrific thunder, rain and wind storms have passed over the country the past two nights, doing considerable damage to crops. At Crystal City about one thousand acres of wheat were totally destroyed by hail and much more partially destroyed. During last night's storm, which was extremely severe, the atmosphere being continuously illuminated by vivid lightning, many buildings were struck in different parts of the county, and Mrs. Martin, wife of a farmer who lives near Marden, and Mrs. McGinnis, of Moosejaw, were killed.

Preacher Wants His Salary.

New York, Aug. 8.—Rev. Daniel C. Potter, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, has a claim upon the Sixth street Baptist church corporation for $20,000 which represents ten years' salary. In order to secure him this amount the church officers have obtained leave from Judge O'Brien of the supreme court to execute a mortgage upon its property between Avenues B and C for $20,000, making the pastor the mortgagee. The mortgage is payable in one year at five percent interest.

Fourteen Deaths.

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 8.—The body of Charles West, a car inspector in the employ of the West Shore railroad, was found in the wreck at Montezuma. He was riding in the caboose of the freight train. His body was under the passenger train engine. This makes 14 deaths. Conductor Tobin and Flagman Conley, who could not be found after the accident, are now at their homes in this city.

Sent to Sing Sing for One Day.

New York, Aug 8.—Probably the lightest sentence ever given by a judge in general sessions court was that pronounced yesterday against Henry King, of 510 Third avenue. King jumped into the North river while suffering from alcoholism. He was fished out and arrested for attempted suicide. Judge Cowing sentenced him to Sing Sing for one day.

STORY OF THE KILLING.

The Rye-Wheeler Shooting Case Retold.

The Murder Grew Out of a School House Row Which Could Have Been Easily Settled.

Baltimore, Aug. 8.—A correspondent of the Sun telegraphs that feeling runs high in the section where John M. Rye shot and killed John J. Wheeler, the school teacher. At every post-office and public place knots of men gather and discuss the shooting. Threats are freely indulged in by Wheeler's friends, but as yet no demonstration has been made. Rye spoke freely of the shooting. He said:

"On Wednesday evening Wheeler drove to the house of my nephew, John Bowie, with whom I live, and sent Buck, Johnson, a young white man to the house saying he wanted to see me.

"I went on toward the buggy and when I got within twenty feet of the fence Wheeler asked me what I meant by saying he was no gentleman. I replied that he had kept my niece locked up in his schoolroom one hour and had tried to make her tell a lie.

This I did not think was proper conduct for a teacher, and I told him so. Wheeler then got out of his buggy, and coming to the fence put his hand on the top railing, as if to get over, saying at the same time that he was going to have redress.

"As he did this, I drew my pistol and shot him. I did not know he was not armed and felt that I was in danger. I had been told that a neighbor had said he would make Jack Wheeler whip me."

Rye gave the following statement as the origin of the trouble:

"Before the close of the school term in July some one had sent Mr. Wheeler a letter accusing him of improper conduct with one of his pupils, and giving Marion Hancock, my 14-year old niece and also a pupil at Wheeler's school, as authority for the scandal.

"Wheeler kept the child in school for one hour at the end of a session and taxed her with spreading the report and endeavored by every means to induce her to admit that she was guilty. This she refused to do and maintained her innocence throughout.

"When I heard of this occurrence, I said to Mr. John Hendrick that Wheeler was no gentleman. I suppose that Mr. Hendrick repeated what I said to Mr. Wheeler, for I never said it to Wheeler and never sent him any message concerning the matter.

"The whole thing occurred in the early part of July. I met Mr. Wheeler about two weeks after I made the statement to Mr. Hendrick, but he said nothing to me nor I to him at that time."

Miraculous Escape.

Denver, Col., Aug. 8.—As a train on the Rio Grande road entered a deep cut near Dubeque, Col., a huge mass of earth became dislodged and fell upon the cars. The engine and baggage cars were wrecked and the other cars thrown upon their sides. The passengers were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously injured.

MURDER ON HIS HANDS.

Joseph Levi Kills the Girl He Loved.

Jealousy Leads to a Bloody Tragedy in Cincinnati—The Murderer in Jail.

Cincinnati, Aug. 8.—About 8 o'clock last night, Joseph J. Levi recently employed by the B. & O. Southwestern railway, shot and almost instantly killed Ida Kipp just as she was entering the gate of a Fifth street beer garden with a gentleman friend.

Levi had been paying attention to the girl for some time and was jealous of her. He saw the couple walking together on the street and followed them for several blocks.

Just as they reached the beer garden he stepped up and drew a revolver from his pocket, firing four shots at her, one taking effect in the head and another through the left hand. He then placed the weapon to his own head and pulled the trigger, but it missed fire.

He ran down Fifth street, drawing the shells from his revolver and trying to reload it with the intention of ending his own life. In his flight he stumbled and fell to the sidewalk, discharging the revolver, but doing no serious damage.

He got up and tried to escape from the crowd who were after him, but was finally captured and lodged in the Central police station.

Levi was an applicant for a position on the police force of this city, and had passed the examination a few days ago. He is about 26 years old. Ida Kipp was a handsome girl, about 19 years of age. Her father keeps a blacksmith and wagon shop at No. 423 Second street, and lives at No. 26 Anderson street.

The murdered girl after being wounded, was taken to the city hospital, but died soon after she reached there.

THE BLAINE BOOM IS ON

Quay Has Put it on Foot in Pittsburg.

Harrison to be Dumped by the Wayside.

The Man Who Denounced the McKinley Bill as Infamous to be the Republican Leader.

Pittsburg, Aug. 8.—(Special)—The newspapers of this city, with noteworthy unanimity, have joined the Blaine boom.

The Dispatch, Commercial-Gazette, Times, Chronicle-Telegraph, the Leader and the Press have all pronounced for Blaine. The Dispatch says, under the head of "Politicians and the Blaine Boom:"

"It is a fact that the present Blaine boom is about the most spontaneous and honest expression for a public man from the people that has been made in this country since the call in 1868 upon Grant to go to the white house.

"It has been a foregone conclusion ever since Blaine wrote his famous reciprocity letter that, if alive and well, nothing could prevent his being the republican candidate for president in 1892.

"It is the widespread and earnest feeling among the people that Blaine is by great odds the most capable man in the party, or, indeed, in public life in this country to-day."

The Commercial-Gazette in a leading editorial speaks of Mr. Blaine as "the one man above all others to lead his party to victory in the great battle of 1892.

"Men who once distrusted and opposed him are now his supporters, because to his conceded brilliancy he has added the proofs of a conservative and dignified statesmanship that has made the state department of this administration the pride of his countrymen."

The Chronicle-Telegraph says: "It is time for the republican party of this state and every other state to speak in unmistakeable terms for the greatest statesman, he trainiest leader, and the most earnest, unfaltering exponent of republican doctrines in the republic." It adds: "It is an old cry a strong cry, and a cry altogether—Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine."

The Times, speaking of the attitude of Quay and others, says of Mr. Blaine: "His nomination is so clearly the party desire that there will be no room in the republican national convention for any name but his, except he declines absolutely in advance."

INDIANA MILITARY ROW.

Insubordination in the National Guard.

Trouble Which Commenced at the Prize Drill Terminates in Wholesale Arrest.

Indianapolis, Ind., August 8.—Sergeant Muger, corporals Boyle, Cox, Newman and about fifteen privates of the governor's guard are under arrest by order of Capt. Scott, charged with mutinous conduct.

The trouble began at the drill tournament here, and was renewed at the state encampment at Ft. Fayne. After the return of the company a petition was drawn up and signed by members, making a serious charge against Capt. Scott, and asking the governor to remove him.

Some members of the company were not in sympathy with the signers, denounced the movement as mutinous, and immediately gave the offenders the choice of withdrawing their names or being put under arrest to a man. They chose the latter, and will be tried on a charge of mutinous conduct.

A Heartless Wretch.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 8.—Great indignation has been caused at Maysville by J. Dexter Kehoe, an employe of the state printing office, and an ex-member of the legislature, who on Monday sold his father-in-law's lot in the cemetery. He first dug up the bones of his wife's parents and threw them into a wheelbarrow, where they lay until charitable people buried them.

THE FARMERS' FRIEND.

Congressman Tillman on the Alliance.

Bitter Denunciation of Macune and Peffer—The Third Party Badly Scared.

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 8.—Congressman George Tillman, the brother of the farmer governor, spoke at an alliance meeting at Perkville on Thursday.

He said God Almighty never made a greater scoundrel than Macune. If the alliance at the south wants to serve its friends at the north let it give their support to Campbell, of Ohio.

He denounced Senator Peffer as an ex-chicken thief and hater of southern men. The third party, he said, was projected by political assassins and cullprits.

St. Bernard Die.

New York, Aug. 8.—Two famous St. Bernard dogs, one the sire of the other, died yesterday. Prince Regent succumbed in this city from gastric fever, and Scottish Prince, his son, expired at Poughkeepie from paralysis and exhaustion, caused, it is believed, by lack of exercise. He was owned by Col. Ruppert, cost $6,000 in Europe and was a champion.

Twenty Cents on the Dollar.

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 8.—The report filed with the county clerk by the assignee in the recent failure of the Hopper Lumber and Manufacturing company, of Michigan City, shows $105,000 liabilities, $40,000 assets, and a $30,000 preferred claim. If the latter is allowed the unpreferred, creditors will not get over 20 cents on the dollar.

Ocean Marine.

New York, Aug. 8.—Arrived—Fuers Bismarck, from Hamburg; Dania, from Hamburg.

Liverpool, Aug. 8.—Arrived—Sarnia, from Montreal.

Wauseon's Oil Fight.

Wauseon, Aug. 8.—(Special)—The oil fight here shows no signs of abatement. The Standard, for some unseen reason, is selling no gasoline. Some unexpected move is looked for.

Elliott Sentenced for Life.

Columbus, O., Aug. 8.—Judge Pugh this morning overruled the motion for a new trial in the Elliott murder case and sentenced W. J. Elliott to imprisonment for life. Elliott will probably be taken to the penitentiary this afternoon.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

The Ocala Platform Will be a Factor In It.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 8.—The Atlanta Journal this morning, in answer to an inquiry received the following dispatch:

"Answering your question I state that it is quite true that Livingston, Moses, Winn and Watson will not vote for Crisp, Mills or any other candidate for speaker without an expression of their views upon the Ocala platform. I get knowledge of the position of these gentlemen directly from them and not from the newspapers. The southern alliance Farmer made the statement some time ago that none of the alliance congressmen were committed upon the speakership question. Nobody has denied that statement."

(Signed) J. T. Watson.

Election of Officers.

Dayton, O., Aug. 8.—The Ohio Grand Lodge Harugari in annual session here yesterday elected the following officers: Grossbarde, Curis Roth, of Dayton; deputy grossbarde, Ed Young, of Tippecanoe; gross aufsicher, George Bernhardt, of Cleveland; grand secretay, Michael Pfahr, of Cleveland; grand treasurer, George Stahl, of Cleveland; grand chaplain, Matthew Dietz, of Sandusky; grand marshall, L. Schellhaus, of Miamisburg; grand leader, John Mentel, of Lorain; outside guard, H. Murawsky, of Cleveland, inner guard, William Kapp, of Dayton. Next meeting will be held at Cleveland, August 6, 1892.

FINANCIAL CRASH.

Failure of a Prominent Pittsburg Firm.

Judgments Issued for Over Two Hundred Thousand Dollars to Members of the Family.

Pittsburg, Pa., August 8.—Business and financial circles were startled last night by the report that W. E. Schmertz, the most extensive shoe manufacturer of this section and the head of several financial and mercantile institutions, had failed.

Upon investigation it was found that he had confessed judgments in favor of William Loeffler, his brother-in-law, and was for $100,000. This was filed in the afternoon, but in the evening the following other judgments were entered:

E. M. Quimby, $58,248; W. G. Taylor, $30,480; and Emelia A. Schmertz, $54,330.

Quimy is also a brother-in-law and Amelia Schmertz is his wife. The cause of the failure or the liabilities could not be learned, as Mr. Schmertz is seriously ill at his home and could not be seen. The other parties interested refused to give any information. Mr. Loeffler stated that the judgment to him was issued to cover indorsement made by himself and R. C. Schmertz & Co., limited, and to protect him as surety on a bond given by W. E. Schmertz as guardian of the children of R. C. Schmertz, deceased.

There was no connection, he said, in business between R. C. Schmertz & Co., the glass manufacturers, and W. E. Schmertz.

Mr. Schmertz was president of the Third National bank, of this city, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the National bankers' executive committee. His credit was rated by Dun & Co. as high, with from $300,000 to $500,000 capital.

Among outsiders his embarrassment was attributed to the heavy decline in natural gas stocks and the failure of several shoe concerns in the East and here. Those who ought to know say the failure will in no wise affect the Third National bank.

Leaped into the Sea.

San Francisco, Aug. 8.—Second Lieut. Philips J. Hodges, of H. M. S. Ringdove, jumped overboard from the steamship Alameda, on July 14, shortly after leaving Sydney. Hodges had been suspended from duty for one year on account of a breach of discipline and was on his way to England.

All But One Captured.

Auburn, N. Y., Aug. 8.—All but one of the crazy convicts who escaped from the insane asylum have been recaptured. One of them fought desperately.

Out for Blaine.

Pittsburg, Aug. 8.—The Commercial Gazette comes out to-day in a double leaded editorial for Blaine as the presidential candidate for 1892.

SPARED ONE OF THEM.

Two Persons Frightfully Burned in New York.

A Falling Lamp Casts Its Burning Oil Over the Occupants of a Tenement House.

New York, Aug. 8.—Flames trailed after a very old woman as she dashed, shrieking in Italian, last night, out of the Forty-seventh street entrance of 753 Third avenue to cast herself on the pavement in agony and get up and run around wildly.

Policeman Jeremiah O'Brien burned his hands before he restrained her. Among the spectators was a well-dressed man who, the moment the unfortunate woman was in control, whipped off his coat and wrapped it around her shoulders. Her robe still blazed, and Officer O'Brien put out the flames with a blanket taken from a stable near by.

Then as smoke came from the top floor of the house whence she came, O'Brien went upstairs and found an aged man and a young woman in agony, but past danger of cremation. They were Salvator Ferraro, 67 years old, and his daughter Raffaela, 27.

The old lady was Salvator's wife, Felicia, 62 years old. They were preparing to retire, when a lamp fell from a mantel-piece and broke on a stove, covering Mrs. Ferraro with blazing oil. Her husband and daughter were burned in trying to help her. All were sent to Bellevue hospital, where the mother and daughter died. The man was the least injured. The fire did but trifling damage to the building.

GONE TO SEE MR. BLAINE.

Dr. Baldwin Leaves for Bar Harbor.

The Man from Maine Must be Bolstered Up in Order to Save the Republican Party.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 8.—Dr. Wm. B Baldwin, of Florence, Italy, was in Birmingham yesterday. His brother Charles in an interview said: "My brother came to America partly on business. I suppose he will visit Mr. Blaine before he returns."

Just then William Baldwin entered the room and said: "I have not seen Mr. Blaine and will not say whether I shall see him or not. It is not the duty of a physician to make such matters public, nor has the public anything to do with my business. It will not know whether I shall see Mr. Blaine or not."

Turning to his brother, he chided him for intimating that he (William) would see Mr. Blaine, saying: "You don't know whether I will or not; I did not tell you."

Nevertheless Dr. Baldwin left for Bar Harbor last night.

HE MAKES A BOLD MOVE

Quay to Command the Pennsylvania Forces

In the Coming Political Campaign.

He Will Try and Get at the Head of the Republican Procession to Down Harrison.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—Senator Quay will be chairman of the state committee, to succeed Andrews, who will present his resignation to the convention, which meets next Wednesday. It is, as yet, doubtful whether that convention will accept Senator Quay's resignation as a member of the national committee.

This aggressive and bold move is entirely in harmony with Senator Quay's heroic system of politics.

The resignation of the chairmanship of the national committee to be followed by the assumption of the chairmanship of the Pennsylvania state committee, coupled with the advocacy of a Blaine movement for the presidential nomination, is but another illustration of Quay's audacity, shrewdness and mastership of politics.

It was not so much a "dream of Blaine" as a purpose to hide a heroic effort to hold all that Senator Quay was supposed to have lost by the defeat of Delamater that he put forward the Blaine shield when he was in the city a few days ago.

It is understood that when the conference between the two Pennsylvania United States senators was held at Donegal the junior senator explained his plan of campaign, and that along with the purpose of a Quay leadership of the campaign was to go the nomination of an apparently independent ticket—Gregg and Price—which had been in reality set up by Mr. Quay long ago.

More or less rumors of Quay's really brilliant move have been circulated privately for some time, but apparently the time has now come for the public announcement of the Quay chairmanship scheme. It did not need the authoritative statement sent out by John L. Hill, one of Quay's confidants, to the press from the Fifth Avenue hotel New York, last night to inform those who have watched the drift of affairs for some time that Senator Quay intended not only to direct the approaching campaign in this state, but to take personal control of it himself.

Senator Quay's friends say that this movement is intended to inaugurate a fight for Blaine for president. The opponents of the Quay machine in this state are already showing their alarm at the possible success of Mr. Quay in veiling his purpose behind the Blaine cloak, and the Quay leadership in this state under the circumstances presents the strongest evidence of the senator's political wisdom. It is a great coup d'etat which presents the most alluring possibilities for Mr. Quay and Mr. Quay's friends.

[illegible] tremendous probabilities of a republican defeat Quay would not only vindicate himself, but would stand forward as the only possible leader of the republican party in the nation.

The scheme seems to be worthy of Mr. Quay's genius.

HUSTLED OFF TO THE PEN.

Quick Work of the Courts at Akron.

Arrested, Indicted, Tried, Convicted, Sentenced, All Inside of Twenty-four Hours.

Akron, Aug. 8.—Detective Ed Dunn arrived in this city yesterday morning, accompanied by the three young robbers of the Werner Printing company, Shoenduve, Roberts and Young.

Notwithstanding the unseasonable hour, about one hundred and fifty people were on hand to meet them. Shoenduve and Young both hung their heads, but Roberts assumed a bold mien and attempted to laugh.

At the jail the meeting between parents and sons was very affecting. Even Roberts broke down when his father and brother entered the prison.

At 9:30 the prisoners were taken to Squire Hoffman's court and arraigned, charged with grand larceny. Roberts and Young, through their attorneys, pleaded not guilty. Otto Shoenduve was not represented by an attorney, and when called upon to answer pleaded guilty to the charges.

All three were bound over to common pleas court under $2,000 each. The grand jury in session found true bills against the the accused, and the common pleas at once took up the case, at 4 o'clock. Roberts and Young followed Shoenduve's example and pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against them.

At 6 o'clock the boys were arraigned to received their sentences. Each was given two years in the penitentiary at hard labor.

DEAD BODIES TELL THE TALE

Quick Work Made of Criminals in Alabama.

Two Men and Women Suspected of Arson, Are Riddled With Bullets by a Mob.

Birmingham, Ala., August 8.—News has reached here of a quadruple lynching in Henry county, Ala. Last Friday the residence of William Davis, a prominent farmer was burned, and the family narrowly escaped with their lives.

On Sunday Ella Williams, colored, was arrested and confessed to saturating the house with oil and setting fire to it out of revenge. Her confession implicated William Williams, Willis Lowe, and Eliza Lowe, colored.

Yesterday they were arrested and while the officers were taking them to jail at Abbeville a mob overpowered them and took the prisoners and shot them to death. Their bodies were thrown in the rived near by.

Sending the Sealers Home.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 8—The sealer Triumph has arrived here from Bering sea with 173 skins aboard. The Triumph reports having been ordered away from the sea by H. M. S. Pheasant, and that she was the eighth vessel that ship has ordered off.

Attached the Monument.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 8.—The Bennington (Vt.) battle monument was attached for $4,000 yesterday by the Security company of Hartford, which advanced that sum to make up the amount necessary to raise the fund for its erection to the necessary figure.

AT CAMP M'PHERSON.

The Sixteenth Regiment at Sage's Grove.

Scenes and Incidents Picked Up by Bees.

The Boys are Having a Royal Time—Capt. Weier's Reception Tent a Place Much Courted.

AU (UN) FELINE DETAIL.

CAMP MCPHERSON, Aug. 8th '91—Out of Sage's grove the 16th Regiment of our citizen soldiery, are now tasting of the joys and discomforts of camp life.

The resident-er is patting his own back and smiling in silent satisfaction at the joy he will derive from hazing some recruit. The recruit in the meantime, trembles perceptably at the advance of every man who wears a stripe.

The camp has hardly settled down to business yet, but nevertheless, the merest tyro at camping can see with half an eye that Camp McPherson will be most successful, the most enjoyable and the prettiest camp that the Sixteenth regiment has ever experienced.

It is a beautiful grove of magnificent trees. The avenues are wide, the ground covered by thick green sod, and all over is the "sylvan shade" we are wont to read about.

The camp is on undilating land but is high and dry. Within a stone's throw of Col. Keyes' quarters is the lake stretching out in translucent loveliness to meet Maumee bay, and the glistening sandy beach is dotted with the "bowld sojer bboys" attired in full dress or in nature's own shroud, sunning themselves or coquetting with the waves.

On the other side is as fine a field of corn as ever gladdened the eye of a Patron of Industry.

The ends of the grove are barricaded by the lagoons of partially stagnant water, and really the emerald scum gives a charming relief to the thousands of pond lillies, which would have grown there but for the fact that the Fifth regiment, which camped here last week, picked the partially formedbuds and used the leaves for plates.

The camp is well provided with all the luxuries of life. There is the sutler, the common prey of every man and boy. The camp dining tents where a menu is served fit for any one. Near the camp are two places which dispense the fluid which exhilarates. A blind man could find his way there, as the path is worn down three inches below the level. There is also the dance pavilion, swings and merry-go-rounds.

Huron is only a mile and a half away, and if asphalt could be substituted for the slippery white sand which nearly reaches the hub of the 'bus, which runs every 20 minutes, it would be a glorious time. On one side is the swish swash of the lake and on the other the water willows have grown to a great height and bend almost entirely over the road, making a beautiful vista in which to let the horse do its own driving while you are speaking soft words of love.

As James E. Melville, the hospital steward, says: "Our other camps are not into it when compared to Camp McPherson."

At 3 o'clock yesterday the first guard was thrown out and in soldierly fashion they paroled their beats until 9 o'clock, when the regular guard for the night was thrown out and the password given. Then came the great feat of running the guard. This seems, in the eye of the rank and file, the criterion of a good soldier; at any rate it furnishes material for many a tale of daring and gives the men something to tell about at home.

When the detail for the night guard was made, it developed more cases of disability than if a prize had been offered for the sickest man. Every imaginable compaint came to the surface, from ingrowing nails to nervous prostration. There is, being a soldier and being a soldier, a difference without a distinction.

The roster of the encampment is the following:

Officers in Command

FIELD—Colonel, Charles M Keyes; lieutenant colonel, Henry S Bunker; major, Maurice B Lemmon; major, Edmund B King.

STAFF—Adjutant, First Lieut Rhomas M Sloane; quarermaster, First Lieut William L Lewis; surgeon, Major Arthur L Osborn; assistant surgeon, Capt Park L Myers.

Can't Get 'Em Up.

"I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, I can't get 'em up, them soldiers," is the quaint refrain that the men who follow under the lead of Mars, have adopted to be revelle. And so the bugles' clear notes hog out this morning, disturbing the tired-out soldiers, and incidentally breaking the tinpanum of the ears of the corn, one would realize that the rhymster knew whereof he rhymed.

The grey tints of breaking day had hardly forced their way through the thick foliage, when that incarnate fiend, the camp bugler, took his station near the flag staff and bellowed forth the reveille.

With long, drawn-out yawns and weary stretching of limbs, the camp opened its eyes and the tents their flies. Partially dressed and sleepy militiamen come out. Applications of cold lake water soon revived them.

Then came the roll call and breakfast.

It seems funny how much provender the pale and puny looking lad can put away. At home nothing is good enough and he only wants a small portion then, but here, goodness, anything is good and he wants it in large quantities.

To-day the camp took on a thoroughly military air. Immediately after the guard mount at 9 o'clock, the separate companies were taken out on the parade ground and put through the manual of arms for a couple of hours, then came battalion drill until 12 o'clock. A good dinner braced the "sojers" for the afternoon work which consisted of another battalion drill and dress parade.

During the afternoon Major Lemmon instructed his school of non-commissioned officers.

The guards zealously watch the camp and no one but a citizen or a man provided with a captain's pass is allowed to enter.

Oh, camp life is one continued round of joy.

In spite of the work there is fun. Last evening nearly every company had their recruits out guarding out landish places. Company F., had one of her boys out on the outskirts of the cornfield, guarding the camp from the invasions of a family of skunks which our noses told us were in the vicinity.

Company I., has a green German. The boys got him out about 12 o'clock and had just started with him towards the stables, when the fact that Captain Weier, who was officer of the day was coming that way, was made known and they scurried him back to quarters. As they reached them the German inquired: "Moost I coom back?"

"Yes certainly," was the answer and in half an hour he came back, woke his

"WHO GOES THERE?"

VOICE FROM THE GLOAMING—"IF ANYONE ASKS YOU TELL 'EM YOU DON'T KNOW."

tormenters and was put guarding an empty barn.

All night long came the frequent cry of "Corporal of the Post No—" which meant that some poor wayfarer had slipped up on running the guard or else lost his bearing.

"A" Company.

Yesterday afternoon during the time between drills the BEE correspondent went down to A company's quarters. Now here is the greatest company in the regiment and no mistake.

Their location is on the crest of a hill, and, although some of the lower tents are in the sun, it is a delightful place.

Captain Weier is the commandant, and as a captain and a man deserves and has the esteem and affection of every man in his company. As a disciplinarian he is second to none. Captain Weier is the third oldest officer in the O. N. G. and has attended 14 encampments.

While in A company's headquarters Otto Goebie, a private, produced a zither, and hardly had he played half a tune until the crowd in and around the tent numbered a hundred. Mr. Gaebie is a remarkably fine zither player. His execution is perfect and his repertoire is made up of classical airs.

Hardly had the zither ceased when Capt. Weier called in his colored cook, Billy Mouley, who gave a terpsecorian exhibition equal to anything Barney Fagan ever put on the boards.

All this took place in A company's reception room, a separate tent provided with an ice chest and things that usually go with a well regulated one.

The captain was just telling that A company ate off silver when Billie Manly returned to say that some one had to go to Huron to get some more tin plates, as there wasn't enough to go 'round.

The officers in charge of the camp tomorrow will be Capt. W. O. Bulger of Co. D, as officer of the day; L. W. Howard, Co. F, senior officer of the guard; T. E. Rohong, of Co. A, junior officer of the guard.

Shooting Tournament.

The annual shooting tournament takes place Monday. It is for the regiment badge, now held by company E. The winner holds it until the next encampment.

The teems are composed of the following:

Company C—Jno. Dannenberger, Philip Thomas, Frank Pflock, John A. Gekle, Jas. Rwode.

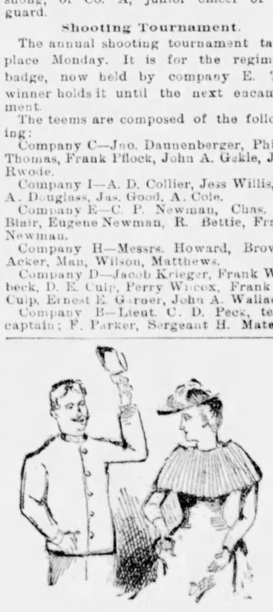
Company I—A. D. Collier, Jess Willis, J. A. Douglass, Jas. Good, A. Cole.

Company E—C. P. Newman, Chas. G. Blair, Eugene Newman, R. Bettie, Frank Newman.

Company H—Messrs. Howard, Brown, Acker, Man, Wilson, Matthews.

Company D—Jacob Krieger, Frank Witbeck, D. E. Culp, Perry Wilcox, Frank P. Culp, Ernest E. Grner, John A. Wallace.

Company B—Lieut. C. D. Peck, team captain; F. Parker, Sergeant H. Matern,



A PREROGATIVE OF RANK.

jr., Corporal C. E. Allwitt, John McKenzie.

Company F—J. N Putt, A. Betz, L. B. Fillers, Amos Clifton, G. Overman.

Notes.

The commandant, last evening, issued orders prohibiting bathing between the hours of 7:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.; also an order stating that muster and inspection will take place on August 8.

Capt. Wilson, of the Twelfth infantry, instructor and inspector of the Twelfth infantry, is here.

Adjutant Dill arrived in camp last evening.

Drum Major Dittenhover, of the Sixteenth Regiment band, is resplendent in a new uniform.

Our Old Fire Company.

"That was a gay old company that we belonged to, Joe, away back in '68, when you and I 'ran with the machine.' Do you remember that big fire in Hotel Row one freezing night, when fifteen people were pulled out of their burning rooms and came down the ladder in their night clothes; and how 'Dick' Greene brought down two 'kids' at once—one in his arms, the other slung at his back! Poor 'Dick'! He got the catarrh dreadfully from so much exposure, and suffered from it for five years or more. We thought once he was going in consumption sure. But finally, he heard of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and tried it, and it cured him up as sound as a flint. I tell you, Joe, that catarrh remedy is a great thing. It saved as good a man and as brave a fireman as ever trod shoe leather."

Recent experience in cold storage shows that different articles of food require different degrees of temperature for their preservation, varying from 33° Fahrenheit for eggs to 15° to 26° for poultry and various kinds of game.

THEY DIED OF POISON.

Mystery of the Death of the Lewis Children.

The Chester, Pa., Sensation Being Investigated.

No Motive Can Be Found for the Deed as the Parents Seemed to Love the Boy and Girl.

Chester, Pa., Aug. 8.—The mystery surrounding the death of George and Mary Lewis, son and adopted daughter of Isaac Lewis, of South Chester, is yet as dense as ever.

The experts finished the analysis of the girl's stomach and found arsenic. It is now certain that both the boy and girl had arsenic in their stomachs when they died, but whether the poison was there in sufficient quantities to cause death is not known.

The apparatus at the command of the experts was so limited that nothing but a qualitative test could be made. A quantitative test will be made later on, and not until then will it be known whether there was enough poison present to produce death.

However, there is little doubt that the deadly poison was used in large quantities for the drug responded very quickly to the qualitative test.

This fact only makes the matter more perplexing, as the authorities, who have been working industriously on the case, have utterly failed to find a motive located on tenable ground. They have found this out:

Isaac Lewis is a hard-working, industrious man, who has no bad habits and who apparently loved his children intensely. The same thing can be said of Mrs. Lewis, who worked every day in a South Chester textile-mill, and whose every hour outside of working and sleeping was spent in educating and caring for the children.

The neighbors all say that Ella, the 15-year-old surviving daughter, is a well-behaved, modest young lady, who loved her little brother and sister, and cared for them tenderly at all times. So much for the character of the family, and now for the motive. One of the officials connected with the coroner's office said yesterday:

"When we first heard that the children's lives had been insured we thought possibly this might furnish a motive. However, the bottom dropped out of this theory at once, for we found that the funeral expenses amounted to nearly $100 more than the amount of the policies. Neither can we find where any poison was ever brought into the Lewis household. None of the drug stores in the neighborhood sold arsenic to any member of the family.

"Some of the neighbors attributed the death of George and Mary to impure well water. Many of the children in the neighborhood have been taken suddenly ill lately with exactly the same symptoms which characterized the fatal illness of the Lewis children.

"There were, however, somewhat different symptoms after the first day, when the neighboring children begun to get better and the Lewis children worse. A portion of the water from the well used by the Lewis family will be analyzed."

With these threads to work on the coroner held an inquest, and the jury returned a verdict that George and Mary came to their deaths by arsenical poison administered by some person or persons unknown.

The verdict seemed to afford relief to the father and mother, and they promptly left the crowded inquest-room with pretty Ella. The examination of Lewis was conducted by District Attorney Hannum, whose inquiries were directed to two important points: First, was he present at the time Mary and Georgie were taken ill? Second, did he know of or procure any arsenic? Mr. Lewis, by his own words, showed that he was absent on both occasions when daughter and son were taken ill. On the day that Mary took ill he went to Marcus Hook to visit Billy Mills, a friend. He said that he had no special object in going there, except that he had not seen Mills for some time. He had also left the house when Georgie became sick. As to the other point, he denied procuring in any way arsenic or any other poison.

Mr. Hannum, in his examination of Mrs. Lewis, inquired particularly into their domestic relations, whether there had been any unpleasantness in their married life.

"Have you had any trouble with your husband?" she was asked.

"No," was the reply; "we live the same as other people do."

Dr. Crothers testified that sufficient arsenic had been found in Mary's stomach to produce death, but it was not proved that this arsenic came from eating vegetables which had been sprinkled with paris green in William Massey's garden. Mr. Massey denies using any poison whatever.

A question by one of the jurymen elicited the fact that a dog and several of Mr. Lewis' chickens had died of poison, though not recently. The sole support of the house rests on Mrs. Lewis, who earns between $5 and$6 a week in a mill on Front street. Mr. Lewis has canceled the policies on the lives of himself, wife and daughter.

A visit to Roach's shipyards disclosed the fact that painters use sea green as well as arsenic and paris green. The arsenic is said to give a translucent appearance to the paint used in state-rooms. Lewis has been working at Roach's for some month, and was laid off the other day along with twenty other painters. The Lewises are not under surveillance.

ENORMOUS CROP YIELD.

Granaries Bulging With the Golden Harvest.

Great Wheat Year and the Corn and Cotton of Unprecedented Quantity.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—Reports received in this city from the great agricultural sections of the country indicate that the crops for the present year will be unprecedented in their yield. The great wheat fields of the west and northwest have exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine in their promise, and should the weather continue favorable for a few days longer, to permit of the granaries of the west will fairly bulge with their contents, and their capacity will be taxed to the uttermost. Plentiful crops are invariably a barbinger of a revival and activity in trade, and already there are evidences that the immense crops of this year will be reflected in an increased volume of business throughout the entire country.

For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1891, the imports amounted to $840,000,000 and the exports to $880,000,000, a balance of $40,000,000. With the great crops in this country and the scanty yield in the Russian wheat belt, the exports, especially in the matter of cereals, are destined to far surpass those of the past year, and the balance of trade in favor of this country will doubtless far exceed that of last year.

Cotton, the great staple of the south, seems to have joined in a rivalry with the cereals, and a crop estimated at 8,000,000 bales is predicted. The following letter from an agent who has traveled throughout the greater portion of the agricultural section of the west and northwest, and who has been a close observer of the crop conditions, will prove interesting:

"I returned last evening from a 15 days' journey throughout the states of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Iowa and Nebraska, which I made for the purpose of investigating, as far as possible the probable outturn of the small grain and corn crops of this great grain-growing region.

"I have made this trip by daylight, and, after seeing what I have, and from the numerous inquiries made at various points throughout this territory, I have arrived at the following conclusions: The yield of winter wheat exceeds all expectations, and should the weather from this out prove favorable, for the harvesting of the spring wheat and the yield come up to the recent estimates I expect to see the combined total of the winter and spring wheat crops in this country reach 650,000,000 bushels.

"I make this statement, fully realizing the fact that many will think the above figures too high; but it is my honest opinion that in the end they will be found too low. The trade as yet fails to realize the magnitude of this crop, as will be ascertained later on.

"The same can be said of oats, but not to so great an extent. The oat is much better than generally expected, and in my judgment will reach a total exceeding 700,000,000 bushels.

"As to corn! When I started out on this trip I was of the impression that the country had not the promise of even an average crop. After making these rounds, however, I am of a very different opinion, and believe that with seasonable weather from now until September 15 the country has a promise of one of the largest crops ever raised, not falling under 2,000,000 bushels.

"I have arrived at these figures after having made due allowance for damage done to the growing crops throughout this (Nebraska) and other western states by excessive rains, and on the other hand [illegible] isolated localities of Indiana and on two other states.

"In conclusion I may say that the hay crop is a large one throughout the country. Pasturage was seldom better than now at this season of the year. At present values for above staples, coupled with the enormous foreign demand, a prosperous year, to the writer, seems assured."

THE TRAFFIC IN OFFICE.

Harrison Continues His Political Dickers.

Trying to Trade Noble Off for Somebody Who Can Secure the Missouri Vote.

Washington, Aug. 8.—It is reported here that among the statesmen whom the President has in his mind's eye for the Secretaryship of the Interior when Noble retires is Major Warner, of Kansas City.

The President has a very high regard for Major Warner, and it will be remembered offered him the Commissionership of Pensions after Tanner's retirement.

Major Warner did not feel disposed, however, to take the Pension Bureau. Being a smart politician, he knew that he could not conduct the bureau in the interest of the taxpayers of the United States without incurring the odium of the pension sharks, and that he could not remain friends with the sharks while making himself odious to the people at large.

The President evidently feels that he would stand a better chance of securing the support of Missouri in the national convention with Warner in the Cabinet than with Noble. Warner is the stronger politician of the two, has a larger following and is a better mixer.

Besides, it is said that there is no overpowering antipathy between Warner and Filley, and that affairs might be adjusted to the satisfaction of the old man so that he would not oppose Harrison's claim for a second term.

Those who know Filley best here, however, declare that nothing short of the Postoffice at St. Louis will conciliate him. If Harrison should turn out Postmaster Harlow and in a humble manner request Filley to take his place, it is thought that the old man might consent to Missouri supporting Harrison for the nomination, but Filley's friends here declare that nothing short of the Postmastership can conciliate him.

The two are talked of for the Interior department when Noble goes are Dick Oglesby, of Illinois, and Major Warner.

Charley Foster will have considerable to say as to who gets the place, as Foster is now commander-in-chief of the renomination forces. It is simply a matter of politics as to who gets it. The office will be given with a view to secring delegates to the next national convention.

If Warner can give assurance that he can land Missouri right the chances are that he can get the place, but if these assurances are not forthcoming and entirely satisfactory, he will stand no chance. Dick Oglesby, it is understood, has given the president, or the friends of the president, to understand that he can swing Illinois all right if he is given a place in the cabinet.

AN APPEAL FOR CASH.

Have the Barons Gone Back on McKinley?

The Desperate Situation in Which the Republican Party Finds Itself.

Washington, Aug. 8.—It is becoming evident to the republican brthren here in Washington that their party is in a very bad condition in Ohio. Secretary Foster is in Ohio and intends to remain there for a week or ten days, or as long as he can conveniently remain away from the Treasury department.

The secretary intends to devote his vacation to Ohio politics. His first work will be to go into caucus with Sherman and McKiney and adopt methods and means for doing up completely whatever aspirations the Hon. Joseph Benson Foraker may have yet remaining.

Foster received a pathetic appeal from McKinley, written from Pittsburg. McKinley went to Pittsburg to raise money from the tariff barons of that town. He called a meeting of several of the leading manufacturers, told them candidly that affairs in Ohio were in a very unsatisfactory condition, and that unless the sinews of war were forthcoming Campbell would be re-elected by a big majority.

He told them modestly that his own defeat for the governorship of Ohio would be the death knell of a tariff for protection in the United States and warned them that in their own interest as much as his they should contribute to the expenses of the campaign.

According to McKinley, in his letter to Foster, his plea was heard in silence and one irreverent baron asked: "How often are we going to be called upon to pay for your d-n bill anyhow? We put up in 1888; we put up again last year and I should think that would be enough. It is unreasonable to expect us to pay the expenses of the republican party for an eternity."

This was the spirit in which McKinley was received in Pittsburg, and in consequence he is down in the mouth. He is afraid, too, that the contention between Sherman and Foraker for the senatorship will be injurious to his canvass and will inevitably result not only in the re-election of Campbell, but in the election of a democratic majority in the legislature.

In consequence McKinley appealed to Foster to proceed to Ohio and try and map out a campaign and obtain means for paying the freight, so to speak. The first thing to be done, according to Foster's idea, is to get rid of Foraker. Foster thinks that with Foraker out of the way Sherman would have a walk-over for re-election to the senate, and that McKinley's chances for being elected governor would be correspondingly improved.

But with Foraker and Sherman contending in every legislative and senatorial district to have their special favorites nominated for the legislature, leaving bad blood after each contest and indifferences, largely on the part of the defeated element, Foster fears that the democrats may be able to get in their work.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

The Democrats May Have to Get Up and Hustle.

Farmers are Thoroughly Organized and Will Present a Strong Front at the Polls.

Washington, Aug. 8.—A North Carolina democratic editor of social as well as professional eminence, who stopped in Washington for a brief visit on his way from the editorial convention, has expressed his views very freely to his friends here concerning politics in his state. He says that the Farmers' alliance there is very much stronger than people in the north generally suppose, and that the democrats are now waking up to the fact that they made a great mistake in attempting to "dicker" with it. For every inch of concession made by the democrats the alliance has shown its appreciation by turning around and demanding an ell. It will be necessary, he believes, to call a halt on the timid democrats and have a firm stand taken by the party before it is too late, lest the alliance swallow it whole. When asked whether it will be possible for the alliance to wipe out the normal democratic majority of 13,000 to 21,000, he answered that it was within the possibilities, but that he believed the democrats would rally when it came to the struggle on national issues.

"By this you mean that you despair of holding your own against the alliance on purely state politics?" he was asked.

"That matter is already settled," he answered. "In state politics the alliance does its work within our party lines. It carries all before it, too. Having eaten its fill of state offices, etc., we hope that it will be satisfied to split on the presidential fight next year."

"Will it run a separate electoral ticket?"

"Oh yes, beyond a doubt, and make a fair demonstration for it, too, at the polls. But enough alliance men will return to their old allegiance when it comes to the electors to elect the democratic ticket."

"How will this program be affected by Cleveland's candidacy if he is nominated for president?"

"That will make no difference. Indeed, I am not sure that he would not be the most promising candidate we could name as far as the alliance is concerned. It is hard for anyone who does not come into daily contact with these people to realize how great a favorite Cleveland is with the farmers down our way. They snap their finger at the talk about his being controlled by their enemies and declare that he has been tried and they know all about him. Some of the very traits which alienated the professional politicians from him are those which have made him strong with our country people."

These opinions derive extra weight from the fact that the gentleman who gave them voice was always a Randall democrat as long as the Pennsylvania leader sat in his place in congress, and is a convert from conviction alone. His judgment and his forecasts on political matters are respected at home, where their trustworthiness has been tested, and that he keeps abreast of the times is shown by the exceptional fact that he is about the only editor of a weekly in his state who is making money from his paper and declining political offices because he can't afford to bother with them.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. A Boston lady, whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I had taken Hood's Sarsaparilla, knew what it was, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other. When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly

Can You Believe It?

Unscrupulous manufacturers of medicines are offering to supply the retail druggists with an article put up in RED wrapper, almost identical in general appearance, and closely assimilated in every detail to

Carter's LITTLE LIVER Pills!

We know it is hard to believe, and yet it is true, that every day, persons who ask for CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS, have handed out to them something which looks like C-A-R-T-E-R-'S, and yet is not.

They are put up in a RED wrappers, and they closely imitate "C-A-R-T-E-R-'S" in general appearance. But it is a fraud!!!

The unsuspecting purchaser, who wants CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS, because he knows their merit, and is sure of their virtues, goes home with a fraud and imitation in his pocket.

HEED THE WARNING.

Don't be deceived and do not be imposed upon with an imitation of what you want. You want CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS, because you know their value and their merit. THEY NEVER FAIL.

When you go to buy a bottle of CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS ask for "C-A-R-T-E-R-'S," be sure you get "C-A-R-T-E-R-'S," and take nothing but the genuine CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

NEARLY FIFTY THOUSAND.

Extravagance of the Board of Equalization.

Half a Hundred Thousand Dollars Used and a Stolen Seat to Answer For.

Columbus, Aug. 8.—The state board of equalization has adjourned.

The second mileage, which the members voted themselves, was drawn from the treasury yesterday and is now safe in their pockets. It amounts to $960.

The board has been the most expensive one in the history of the state. The total cost reaches $48,445. It consisted of 36 elective members, three secretaries, three sergeant-at-arms, three page boys and one porter. It was in session 213 days. The total mileage amounted to $1,905.06.

A ludicrous incident marked the closing hours of the board. After much debate it was finally agreed to allow Secretary Hampton 30 days' extra pay, and Assistants Hodgman and Vend 20 days. This is for time necessary to complete the record.

It was suggested that the sergeant-at-arms be given extra pay, but finally overruled. In discriminating against these officers a concession was made which afterward provoked much laughter. The sergeant-at-arms were not even given any extra compensation for cleaning up the hall, but to square matters they were told they should have the furniture purchased for the use of the board.

It was to be put up at auction in a formal way but there were to be no bidders and it was to be knocked off to the disappointed officials. This worked all right until Sergeant-at-arms Williams was buying in his desk. He bid $3.50 but Member William Wallace raised him to $3.75. Mr. Williams became indignant and let the member have it. During the bidding several brother members attempted to scare Mr. Wallace off, but he wouldn't have it. It was cheap and he proposed to profit by it.

The board adopted a resolution urging the adoption of the proposed taxation amendment to the constitution.

Auditor of State Poe was seen by a reporter last evening. He entered into a long defense of the board's extravagant methods.

Blood Poison.

Is very liable to follow contact of the hands or face with what is known as poison ivy, especially in hot weather or if the body is perspiring freely. The trouble may subside for a time, only to appear in aggravated form when opportunity offers. The great purifying powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla thoroughly eradicates every trace of potson from the blood, as the cures it has accomplished conclusively show. It also cures scrofula, salt rheum and all other affections arising from impure or poisoned blood.

NOT IN THE FOLD.

Fr. Muehlenbeck States That no Such Priest as "Fr. Quay" Exists.

Yesterday's Bee had an account of "Father Quay," an alleged Catholic priest of Snohomish, Wash., being tarred and feathered Thursday morning.

The dispatch says: "He is accused of immoral practices." It is stated he was removed from his charge at St. Thomas, N. D., for "similar reasons."

The Catholic directory for the years 1886-1891 are before me, and I find that the compilers, Hoffman Bros., Milwaukee, have in all those years been unable to find any priest anywhere, who glories in the renowned name of "Quay."

Snohomish is in the Diocese of Rev. M. McCauley. The directory of 1886 does not know of any McCauley in Washington or Dakota. 1887 and 1888 place Rev. W. McCauley of the Diocese of Nesqually at Cherry Valley, Wash. Ter.

The directories of 1889 and '90 locate him at Snohomist, but call him Rev. J. McCauley. Directory for 1891 leaves him at Snohomish, but calls him M. I think the Revs. W. J. and M. McCauley, of the diocese of Nesqually, are identical, especially as but one appears at a time; perhaps the secretary of Bishop Junger writes a poor hand.

St. Thomas, where "Rev. Quay" is The present pastor is Rev. Thos. M. Cahill, who in 1886 was in Elkton, Dakota, where he staid until 1887, when he was removed to Montrose, Dakota, where he remained until 1890, was then removed to Lisbon, North Dakota, and in 1890 he was appointed to St. Thomas.

This St. Thomas had no church and no priest before 1886. In 1886 a church was built, and it was attended from Grafton, Walsh county, by Rev. Ed. Kenny. Rev. Kenny is in Grafon yet, unless he was removed in the last few months. Rev. McCauley, of Snohomist, has no assistant priest and never had. So you see, that either that coat of tar and feathers was not applied at all, or at least not to a Catholic priest.

J. H.MUEHLENBECK.

THE ANN ARBOR ROAD

Will Have a New Time Table Shortly,

On Account of the Recent Changes—Railroad Notes of Interest—Along the Line.

One week from to-morrow a new time table will go into effect on the Ann Arbor road. This step was necessary to properly adjust affairs under the new system recently adopted by the company. Hereafter there will be no "extras," and when a man goes to work he will put in full time. It will be the policy of the road in the future to employ just what men are necessary to do the business and no more.

With the advent of the new schedule three trains will be abolished and the crews removed from service.

Still Fighting

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Jacksonville Southern are keeping up a lively fight all along the line. The Atchison yesterday refused to accept four G. A. R. tickets which were extended beyond the agreed limit. When the passengers struck the Atchison they paid the regular fare.

The Atchison management has notified the J. & S. that if such maneuvers are not ceased the Atchison will do no business with the line in any manner whatsoever.

The Alton Still In It.

A meeting of the Western Traffic association has been called for to-day, when action will be taken as to the best plan to dispose of the harvest excursion difficulties. The Chicago & Alton is determined, and about the only alternative is to adopt the rate made by that road, which will no doubt be the result of the meeting.

Will Lay Steel.

On next Monday the T. & O. C. will begin tearing up the old rail between Thurston and Columbus, which will be replaced with new 67-pound steel. This system is making many valuable improvements.

To be Extended to the Indies.

London, Aug. 8.— Messrs. Hosmer and Skinner, representing the Canadian Pacific railroad company, have been elected directors of the Halifax and Bermuda cable company to represent the controlling interest recently secured in that company, with the intention of extending the system to Jamaica and the British West Indies. Negotiations for the extension of the cable system are already well under way.

Cinders.

Grain is moving at a lively rate.

President Calloway, of the Clover Leaf, returned from New York city last night.

R. H. Barnes, general passenger agent of the Louisville, New Orleans & Texas road has resigned.

D. D. Davis, auditor of the Clover Leaf, is spending his vacation on an extended trip through the west.

G. R. Angus has been appointed freight and claim agent of the Burrington, for New England, headquarters at Boston.

The managers of the Grand Trunk, Erie, Lackawanna and West Shore fast freight lines will meet at Niagara Falls August 19.

C. S. Phillips, dispatcher on the T. & O. C. at Kenton, and wife, are at Bellevue attending the funeral of Mr. Phillips' father.

Joseph Broughton has been appointed freight claim agent of the Grand Trunk Railway company of Canada, with headquarters at Montreal.

John R. Newell, president, W. H. Canniff, superintendent, and A. J. Smith, general passenger agent of the Lake Shore, were in the city last night.

The railways of India at the commencement of the present year aggregated 16,272 miles in operation, with 2,272 miles under construction. The increase during the previous year was 518 miles.

Chairman Walker, of the Western Traffic association, gives notice that at the commissioners' meeting next Tuesday the following subjects will be considered: Rate from Cairo, Evansville, etc., to St. Paul; proposed rate of 30 cents per 100 pounds on cotton mill machinery from the Mississippi river to Kearney, Neb.

THE BURNETT HOUSE SOLD.

To Mr. Meeker of Fostoria—To Improve the Hotel.

Mr. W. V. Meeker, of Fostoria, has closed negotiations whereby he comes into possession of the Burnett House.

The deal, which was closed to-day as far as the hotel is concerned, carries with it improvements to be made by the landlords of the building.

Mr. Meeker is an old hotel man, favorably known to the traveling public, and under his management the Burnett will maintain its present high standard.

CHARGED WITH BARN BURNING.

A Sensational Case on Trial at Upper Sandusky.

Upper Sandusky, O., Aug. 8.—(Special)—Wm. Mann, of near Kirby, this county, had his barn and contents destroyed by fire Thursday night.

A. R. Siye, a well known farmer, is now under arrest, charged with the job, and will be given a hearing before Justice Myers this afternoon.

This arrest savors much of the sensational, as Mann's wife was formerly Siye's wife, having recently been divorced from him.

SOME SPICY CURRENT TOPICS

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

A New Yacht.

Captain Edwards will be out with his new yacht Pauline for the first time tomorrow. She is a handsome boat and the yachtsmen are taking considerable interest in her trial trip.

Real Estate Transfers.

Harvey P. Platt and wife to Frederick and Mary Hildebrand, lot 51, of W. S. Williams' addition, $500.

Charles E. Russell and William F. Kapp, lot 176, Cantral addition, $1,000.

David A. Walaron to Lebrecht Matthels, 30 feet of lot 34, Potter's addition, $250.

The People's Party Campaign.

The new people's party proposes to get down to business at once, and announce the opening of the campaign in Toledo for Monday evening by W. E. Farmer, the Texan cowboy. The gentleman, it is stated in a note to the BEE, can talk to an audience for three hours without tiring his hearers. Mr. Farmer will speak from the steps of the postoffice.

Forsyth Post Entertains.

A number of members of James E. Moore post and the Relief corps, of Danbury, Conn., were royally entertained last night by Forsyth post at Memorial hall. The program consisted of speeches, recitations and music. A dainty lunch was spread at 10 o'clock. The event was a most enjoyable one. The visitors left for Detroit this morning.

Fatal Fall.

Daniel Zeley, watchman on the steamer Idlewild, fell from the promenade to the lower deck of the steamer yesterday morning and died last night, about 10 o'clock, at St. Vincent's hospital. When the accident happened Zeley was standing on the rail of the upper deck doing some scrubbing and, losing his foothold, fell outwards. He struck on the bulwarks of the deck below and dropped inside. His injuries were internal.

The Foresters' Picnic.

The local courts of Foresters, nine in number, are busily engaged in making preparations for the monster picnic on Thursday next. It is proposed to have a parade of the thousand members in the city, starting from Clark's hall at 8:30 a. m., marching to Summit, up Summit to Monroe, out Monroe to Washington as far as Seventeenth, where cars will be taken for the fair grounds. The program will be printed in Tuesday evening's Bee.

Protect the Crossings.

In speaking of the death of little Harley Garn, who was run over by an ice wagon on Summit street last evening Councilman Neuendorf made a good suggestion. Several policemen should be stationed along Summit street," said he, "whose business shall be to watch the crossings. The traffic on that street has become so great that it is really dangerous for women and children to attempt to cross. This is especially so at the corner of Adams and Summit, where a man should be placed, if nowhere else. Many drivers and heavy teams are very careless and something should be done for the protection of the public."

Non-Partisan W. C. T. U.

The non-partisan W. C. T. U. met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. S. E. Wilson, Putnam street, and there was a good attendance. It was decided to abandon the project of a coffee cart on the Market Square, as it was impracticable. A committee consisting of Mrs Shaffer, Mrs. Watson and Mrs. McGlone was appointed to make arrangements for a lunch stand at the exposition.

The matter of permanent quarters for the union was discussed but no decision was reached. The next meeting of the union will be with Mrs. W. J. Farrar, 913 Madison street.

Last Night's Fire on Canton Avenue.

The fire department made a run to Canton avenue last evening, caused by a blaze in the frame house at No. 1815. For a short time the adjoining property was in danger, but by good work the flames were soon under control. The property damaged belongs to Mr. Funer, of 1817 Canton avenue, and was insured. Benjamin Daws occupied No. 1813 as a second-hand store, and saved most of his goods from being damaged. Mrs. Daws resided in the second story of No. 1815 and sustained an entire loss of her household goods. The fire was accidentally started by a small child of Mrs. Susan's. The entire loss will be between $800 and $900, partly insured.

There Were Two Law Notes.

The ladies of the Fifth Presbyterian church gave an enjoyable lawn fete last night on the grounds at the junction of Monroe and Bancroft streets. The evening was just such a one as would attract a crowd, and those in charge of the various booths were kept busy dispensing refreshments. It was a successful affair, socially as well as financially.

Not less pleasureable was the lawn fete given under the auspices of the ladies aid society of the Broadway M. E. church. The grounds were handsomely decorated, and the surroundings were inviting. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening, and the treasury is consequently in better trim to-day

The River Route to Perrysburg.

The introduction of a new boat on the Perrysburg line has had the effect of calling more particular attention to it. The Wallace has rendered regular service for the past two years, making the trips on time, and seeking to accommodate patrons to the fullest extent. Capt. Lang is himself a genial gentleman, a full-fledged Toledoan, with his interest and money invested here. Since it is desired to have opposition to Perrysburg, Capt. Lang and Mr. Craig of the shipyards have been in consultation relative to fitting out the steamer Jeannie, which last year ran to Monroe, and it is just possible that instead of one boat, the luxury of three boats may be enjoyed. In the meantime the Wallace is entitled to generous treatment at the hands of patrons of the river route.

Another Invitation from the Second.

The cordial invitation of Col. Howe, of the Second regiment, O. N. G., previously printed in the BEE, has been seconded by the following from the crack company of the regiment:

Toledo Press Club, Toledo, O.

Gentlemen: In behalf of the officers and Members of Company G, second infantry, O. N. G., I desire to extend a most urgent invitation to each and every member of your organization to spend all or a part of next week with us in camp at Bowling Green. Company G will be prepared to furnish you special quarters and subsistence and I know you will pardon me if I personally mention the fact that we always have plenty and the best for the "inner man."

Assuring you that every effort will be made to entertain you in a royal manner, I again venture to urge you to be with us.

H. EDSELL, Sergeant Company G.

Maumee Valley Pioneer Association.

The annual meeting of the Maumee Valley Pioneer association will be held at Waterville on the 20th inst. The Clover Leaf will run special trains. Transportation will be provided from Whitehouse to Waterville for people from the west by the Wabash trains, and a boat will leave Napoleon in the morning. A full attendance is anticipated. The program arranged for the occasion is as follows:

Invocation, Rev. Mark Richardson.
Singing, Waterville Quartet.
Reports of secretary and treasurer.
Free dinner for members.
Report of committees appointed at last meeting.
Reports of committee on nominations.
Election of officers for the ensuing year.
Address, Hon. J. Addison Hayler.
Reminiscences, impromptu speeches, etc.
Doxology, Choir.
The Blessing of Peace.

The market quotations in the BEE are compiled from United Press special dispatches and from reports received by the Toledo Produce Exchange, and specially arranged by Mr. Denison B. Smith, secretary of the Exchange.

OFFICE OF THE TOLEDO BEE, TOLEDO, O., Aug 7.

London wheat markets firm; corn steady. Liverpool wheat dull, California ½ pence lower. Corn quiet.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 859,608 bu., as compared with 349,574 bu. on the same day last year.

Baltimore blocked with wheat.—Chicago Bulletin says: Both the Pennsylvania lines to Baltimore have given notice that owing to the crowded condition of the freight yards there they cannot accept grain shipments to that point until further notice.

The proprietors of all elevators at Chicago, whose receipts for grain are deliverable on contract, are required to file a bond with the officials of the board of trade, which must be approved by the directors. They are also required to take out a license under the state laws and required to furnish a bond approved by the court.

More Bad Crop News.—A dispatch from Vienna says: "Bad weather is spoiling the crops in many districts in Austria and Hungary. It is impossible to harvest the crops on account of continuous rain. A hurricane yesterday in Lower Austria, Moravia and Upper Hungary destroyed the season's vintage. In the Gmunpoldskirchen district many of the rivers have overflowed their banks, and the adjacent country for miles is inundated."

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal western points are 540,124 bus. in excess of the corresponding Saturday in 1890.

The receipts of grain this week at eight principal western points show an excess in wheat as compared with the corresponding week in 1890 of 3,228,000 bus. Corn, a deficiency of 104,000 bus. Oats, an excess of 165,000 bus.

The receipts for this week at four Atlantic ports sale tables are: Wheat, 4,188,000 bu; corn, 469,000 bu; oats, 483,000 bu. The exports have been: Wheat, 3,074,000 bu; corn, 317,000 bu; oats, 89,000 bu.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 600,000 bu of wheat, and flour to an aggregate of 700,000 bu.

English markets as reported herein are firm at London and barely steady at Liverpool.

From Minneapolis to New York the freight on flour is 22½c per 100 pounds. From Chicago to New York, all rail, it is 25c per 100 pounds. There is a great deal of consistency in railway management.

Official report herein of Missouri crops, intimates an average yield of 15 bu, and which is commended to the consideration of the amateur six to seven hundred million bu crop propogators.

The Minneapolis Market Record of August 6, gives some results which do not indicate huge averages.

Our Wheat Grading.

The grading of wheat at this market on this crop is better than any other that we have compared with. A week or two ago there was complaint of Toledo elevator weights and we now have inspectors of weights at the leading elevators, and we are determined to do all that is reasonably possible to make our market a good one, and an honest one.

The grain markets in this country have again worked in a very disagreeable and disappointing way to many operators. True it has been a dull Saturday, but prices has been much stronger than was expected. Indeed the trade generally looked for lower prices. The advance in New York was partly lost at the close. August gained at close ⅛ at 98½c. Sept. ¼@98⅜.

Corn was much firmer, and in New York August closed at 65½c. a gain of ⅝c. Sept. at 66½c. a gain of ⅞c.

The market at Chicago was stronger. August wheat closed at 89¾c, a gain of 1c; September at 85⅝c, a gain of ⅝c. September corn at 58½c, a gain of 2½c; August corn at 60⅝c a gain of 2¼c.

In Toledo.—The market for wheat futures has been dull, but after all there is a moderately large list of trades in August, Sept. and Dec. We offer our complacency to the fickle goddess for future prices all around.

The market has been rather steady and the advance at the close is rather a following of the seaboard than Chicago quotations. August sold at 91⅜c and closed at that, a gain of ⅜c; September at 91¾c, a gain of ½c; December sold at 93¾c and closed at 93⅝c, a gain of ⅜c.

Cash wheat was more active than yesterday; No 2 soft opened strong at ⅜c advance, at which most of the sales were made, later declining and closing at 91½c, a gain of ½c; No 3 soft sale at 91½c; rejected No 1 at 88@89c; No 2 at 84@85c; No 1 white at 92c; No 2 white at 90½@91c.

Corn—No 2, 64½c; No 3 at 62c. Oats—No 2 at 29c; No 2 white at 34c; No 3 white at 31c. Rye was in fair demand and steady; No 2 at 76½c; August, 76½c to 77c; No 3 at 74c to 75½c.

Clover seed—Prime for cash at $4 25; October at $4 40.

Flax seed at Chicago yesterday, No. 1 for cash at $1 83; September, $1 02 bid and $1 02½ asked; December, nominal at $1 05.

For the weeks named at Toledo, Chicago Milwaukee, St. Louis, Detroit, Minneapolis Duluth and Peoria:

There was some irregularity in the stock exchange this morning, but the undertone was firm. Union Pacific sold off fractionally on realization, but promptly recovered the loss. Richmond & Terminal was sold to a considerable extent on a hostile article published in one of the morning papers. Atchison was the strong feature of the early trading and advanced fractionally. Aside from the stocks named most of the trading was in Reading and sugar trust. The latter was especially strong and advanced 1¾. The changes in the rest of the market were trifling throughout the morning, but although the bank statement was favorable, showing a decrease of $1,060,550 in the surplus reserves, the majority of the list closed fractionally higher. The sales amounted to 60,185 shares.

New York, Aug. 8.—Flour fairly active with prices barely steady; city mill extra, $5 00@5 15 for West Indies; Minnesota extra, $3 75@5 50; fine, $3 00@3 75; superfine, $2 90@4 15. The returns of the Kentucky election have been all threshed out, and the harvest is a good, old-fashioned, all-around democratic victory. Glory enough for the hottest week of summer.

"There is no Sherman-Foraker fight," says McKinley. But there is a Campbell-McKinley fight, and the Major is painfully aware that his side of it isn't the one on which bets are heavy.

The Columbus Journal, republican, says that the board of equalization just adjourned is the most expensive one in the history of the state." This is the rascally republican board that kept that republican, Hyatt, in the office to which Foster Warren, of Lucas county, was elected.

Mexico has given the world over $4,000,000,000 worth of gold and silver, yet the undeveloped regions of its western coast have indications that they abound in these precious metals. To this western coast railroad construction is opening the way, and great things may be expected therefrom in the near future.

Secretary Foster has deceived no one and gratified in his own party only its fools by the change he has made in the form of the monthly statement from the treasury department. The Boston Herald, mugwump in politics, says the statement is "confused and confusing," and that it "is no longer a guide. It is, to be plain about it, a delusion and a snare."

When farmers have abundant wheat and corn crops the same year they ought to be prosperous. Such a season is the present, and never, in the history of this rich agricultural section, was the harvest more plentiful than now. Prosperity ought to follow. If not, causes outside of favorable weather and industrious tilling must account for the trouble. The farmers are pretty well satisfied that the laws of commerce have something to do with hard times and they are also aware that the republican party is responsible for every bad law that has been enacted for thirty years. Hence the people's party, in Ohio, that purposes giving McKinleyism a whack in November.

The power of Quay is not negatived by his withdrawal from the national republican committee. On the contrary the opportunity to display his peculiar and effective leadership is more apparent since he wields a free lance. The administration will discover Mr. Quay's work in the surprising announcement that all the republican newspapers in Pittsburg declare for Blaine for president. The papers so expressing this sudden change, are the Dispatch, Commercial-Gazette, Times, Chronicle-Telegraph, Leader and Press. This revolt is portentious. It means the overthrow of the administration party in Pennsylvania. It signifies the inability of the Wanamaker following to swing the Keystone delegation for Harrison. It means, more than anything else, that Quay is still the master-leader of Pennsylvania republicans.

The decision of the treasury department in the case of the Dobson Brothers of Philadelphia who imported silk velvet weavers from England is awaited with interest. The firm acknowledge bringing the workmen here, prepaying their passage and fixing their rate of wages before they came. Their defense is that they wish to make a quality of velvet now imported, and that American silk velvet weavers do not know enough to make it. This the Dobson Brothers do not appear to have found out until after their American workmen had struck on them. Importing Welshmen for tinplate work, and Englishmen for velvet weaving because Americans are not skilled enough to do the work is a little hard on the American. He will soon begin to ask himself what he does know, and to add a little to the sum of his knowledge. The first thing he ought to find out is what and how much he owes to the system of protection—for manufacturers.

Several members of the royal family of England have signified their intention to visit the world's fair, and it is now said Emperor William of Germany will "come over" if Europe be at peace at that time. Such a rumor may be taken with several grains of salt. A city in which promiscuous bomb-throwing has been indulged in, a city in which anarchists have been executed and which is yet the hotbed of "red" socialism in America, is not a place where a divinity-hedged king can feel real comfortable, unless he is otherwise guarded by phalanxes of soldiers. And while we of America intend to be hospitable to the last degree, to open our hearts and our doors to visitors of every clime, color and country, we shall want to entertain in the easy fashion of the country; we shall not want visitors so august that common folk must be scurried out of their way, and republican customs must be upset to keep them safe. More important in connection with the great exhibition is the announcement that Guatemala appropriates $20,000 in gold to put up a building on the exposition grounds, and $100,000 for an exhibit, and that the commissioners chosen are men of affairs who will make the most of the appropriations. From every hand come assurances of the success of the great world's gathering at Chicago in 1893.

WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?

The returns from the Berlin consular district on exports from Germany to America for the past year show such a falling off since the McKinley tariff went into effect that the advocates of that monstrosity are hard pressed to find any foot-hold on which to stand and defend it. The exports fell off in all $6,500,000 during the year. Taking out the item of sugar, of which we may be said to produce enough, and books and albums which may be classed as luxuries though hardly with fairness, the remaining articles of German manufacture which we have lost the chance to buy are necessities of consumption among the people of this country.

Assuming that as Germany is affected all other countries are by the tariff, it is seen that as the supply is diminished in the American market the price can be increased without limit by those who furnishing the goods control the market. The Bee again refers to the boasts of Mr. Maitland of the button business. In this business a machine is now in use which greatly simplifies manufacture and reduces its cost. But prices have gone up, as Mr. Maitland says, "because that's what the tariff is for." In the fiscal year 1889-90 there were exported from the Berlin district $187,183.70 worth of buttons and button covers. In 1890-91 the export was $44,157.76, a loss of 75 per cent. In gloves, hosiery, dress goods and piece goods there has been a like falling off. "Because that's what the tariff is for."

Thus are shown the effects of a protective tariff, which is in many directions virtually a prohibitive tariff. It has answered the purpose for which it was enacted. It has shut foreign-made goods out of the American markets and forced the American buyer to pay an artificial price for what he needs and must buy.

On the other hand, this tariff has not only not opened the market for another bushel of wheat raised on American soil but it threatens the markets already established. The country that cannot sell to us will buy nothing from us that it can get elsewhere or get along without.

The truth is getting home to the people, and the party that foisted this abomination of a tariff on them realizes it, and so splurges around in the shallow waters of reciprocity (limited) in order to divert attention from its McKinley crime. But such a report as this from Berlin, a business report with no politics in it, knocks their sophistries silly.

The little game of the high protectionists has been played about long enough. The passes through the hands of the people leave them as empty as they find them. The manufacturers have "got the button" in this country, and they will keep it, and make the people pay dear for it, as long as McKinleyism is the dominant doctrine governing our production and regulating our markets. "Because that's what protection is for."

Among the horrors recorded in this week's news nothing has been more saddening than the report that two little children in Pennsylvania had been poisoned by their father and mother to secure the insurance money on their lives. From latest advices it looks as though this theory of the poisoning of the children, for they died of poison, will be disproved. This takes away the most revolting phase of the affair. But the story of the life of this family, as now laid bare to the public, is a tragedy none the less. At the coroner's inquest it was shown that "the sole support of the family," father, mother and three children, "rests on the mother, who earns $5 and $6 a week in a mill." Of how many American families is this true? And what does it portend?

The Pennsylvania woman who relinquished all claim on her husband for $100 probably knew what he was worth, and probably got the best of the bargain.

Of What Benefit?

The republican farmer who believes in protection because he owns a few sheep should note that the price he gets for his wool is from one to nine cents less than the foreign price for wool of the same grade. Of what benefit to him is the protection of 36 cents a pound on wool!—Fayette Register-Democrat.

Tariff on Glass.

The tariff was raised on window glass. The manufacturers are reaping an extra profit. The people pay more for window glass, but the wages of employes in Pittsburg glass manufactories have been reduced 10 per cent. lower than when the McKinley bill went into operation.—Youngstown Vindicator.

Absolute Facts.

Manufactured products which the farmer has to buy have been increased in price. That impoverishes the farmer by prohibiting him from reaching his competitor, and it enriches the manufacturer by prohibiting his competitor from reaching him.—Columbus Post.

Blaine and McKinley.

It is very generally agreed that McKinley has made a mistake in dropping himself into the Harrison camp. Still he could do nothing else. Blaine dislikes McKinley personally, and is violently opposed to his tariff law.—Canton News-Democrat.

Hahn After Them.

The wool growers do not feel in the humor to contribute to McKinley's campaign fund. He will have to depend altogether on the protected monopolists. Fry the fat out of them, Billy Hahn.—Mansfield Shield and Banner.

Availed Him Little.

Little did it avail John Sherman to defeat, through his Brighams, the formation of a third party in the Columbus meeting of the Ohio alliance. That defeat precipitated the great convention at Springfield.—Cleveland Press.

Where Is He?

Will somebody please point out the workingman in any "protected industry" who is getting more wages since the McKinley law went into effect. We would like to make his acquaintance.—Steubenville Gazette.

Beats McKinley.

The French washerwomen of Paris have petitioned that a tariff tax be put upon all clean linen brought into the city. This beats McKinley. He had better emigrate there.—Circleville Democrat and Watchman.

They Are Right, Too.

The Barbed Wire Trust has increased the price of wire $2 per ton. Some persons are of the opinion that these trusts are making votes for James E. Campbell and tariff reform.—Bellaire Democrat.

Will Try Something Else.

Farmers have stood a good deal from the republican party, but they will not trifle with McKinley since the price of wool has dropped to such a low figure.—Woodsfield Spirit of Democracy.

Which Master?

The question now being propounded to republican aspirants for legislative nominations: Which master do you serve—Sherman or Foraker?—Zanesville Signal.

The People of Course.

One Louisiana plantation will get $250,000 out of the sugar bounty and another will get $240,000. Who has to pay the tax?—Mansfield Shield and Banner.

Has a Familiar Appearance.

The people's party with John Seitz at the head of the ticket looks very suspiciously like the old Greenback party of other years.—Columbus Dispatch.

Is This Harmony?

All Gov. Foraker's friends ask is fair play, and that they propose to have.—Athens Messenger (Rep.)

MID-SUMMER STORMS.

They Will Not Be Severe in Character.

Planetary Meteorology Receives Further Attention.

Professor Foster Discusses Weather for the Benefit of Thousands Who Read the Bee.

Special to the Bee.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 8.—My last letter gave forecasts of the very changeable weather from August 4 to 14. The next storm wave will be due to leave the Pacific coast about the 16th, cross the Rocky-Alleghenv valley from 17th to 19th and reach the Atlantic coast about the 20th.

The regular movements of these midsummer storm waves from west to east will not be so manifest to casual observers as were those of the spring months.

The rains and other effects will develop only in the isolate localities and will appear more as chance and irregular disturbances than the effects of regular storm waves. This storm wave will inaugurate the hottest period of the summer and bring the finest corn and cotton weather of the season. The weather will not be settled but changeable from 16th to 22d, after which it will be more uniformly warm and dry.

I must correct my statement about the cotton crop. I meant to say that this year's crop would not exceed that of last year but inadvertently used the wrong figures. The crop of 1890 was about 8,650,000 bales and this year's crop is estimated at 9,000,000 bales.

I do not believe it will reach that amount. To make a more radical statement than this would be construed as an effort to affect prices. The buyer and seller, the manufacturer and consumer are all specially interested in the dates of the first killing frost and the question as to whether the crop will mature early or late for the volume of the cotton crop depends on these two points. There is some danger of the late corn crops being cut short by early frosts n the northern corn belt.

Planetary Meteorology.

It is a species of supreme arrogance for "orthodox" scientists to pretend that they have investigated planetary meteorology, for not one of them understand it. A number of them have declared that there is nothing in the claim that the planets affect the weather because after long and careful observations they find the changes in the moon have no influence on the weather.

Of course not. Planetary meteorology makes no such claims and therefore the tests they have made have no bearing. Others again declare that they have carefully examined the equinoctial theory and find it does not hold good. The difficulty with them is that they do not understand the equinoctial theory. It is not claimed that the equinoctial theory demands a storm everywhere on the 21st of March and September.

It is not even claimed that these equinoxes originate storms, but that they influence them. We do not look for a storm on the 21st of March, but whenever the regular storm wave is due near that date we expect the equinox to increase its force.

In their investigations these "orthodox" scientists have taken the 21st of March and September as the storm days, and as they find that the equinoctial storms do not uniformly occur on those days they conclude there is nothing in the equinox theory. The trouble is not with the equinoxes but with the ignorance of those "orthodox" scientists who never make a discovery and know nothing outside of the theories announced hundreds of years ago when our predecessors were just emerging from the dark ages.

So far as I know there is none but myself who understands the system of planetary meteorology I use as the basis of my calculations, and therefore no one is competent to investigate it. I am the discoverer, not of all the facts, but of important facts which make of planetary meteorology a harmonious whole.

It is very complicated, however, and if I make mistakes it is not the fault of the system, but because of errors in my calculations. I have no secrets regarding my theory, but no one can expect to understand it in a day. The subject is equal in extent to that of law or politics or theology.

Within a year the planets cause about one hundred and sixty electrical disturbances, and to group these so as to know what storm waves will be affected and to what extent, is no small matter, and those scientists who have never given a day's study to the subject are presumptuous when they claim to have investigated that of which they are supremely ignorant.

It is my design to give as full information as I can on this subject through my published letters which go regularly to 40 daily papers and a number of weeklies, besides being copied into a large number of weeklies, but some of the dailies and many weeklies are not prepared to publish diagrams and illustrations which are necessary to a complete understanding of th esubject.

As before stated, subscribers to this paper can obtain these diagrams and illustrations by corresponding with me.

I am prepared to give, through these public letters during the fall and winter months more complete information as to planetary meteorology and will discuss electricity as the cause of motion, one kind of electricity, the positive, being the large, and the negative the small quantity, electricity the cause of magnetism, magnetism and attraction identical, every atom of matter endowed with its own power of motion, that power is electricity as manifest in the natural magnet, each planet revolves on its axis because of its own inherent forces and around the sun because of the movements in that direction of the elements that surround the sun; sun and planets are hot, never were molten matter, but radiate electricity, not heat; heat and light do not penetrate space but originate and are confined to the atmosphere of the sun and planets; the electric envelope of each planet determines its orbit and distance from its primary; the attraction of gravitation is a push; the planets float; the centripotol and centrifugal theories are errors; the calculated revolutions on their axes of most of the planets are errors because of their clouded envelopes; sun spots are similar to our earth storms and are from the same causes; our storms waves move entirely around the earth and their forces are controlled by planetary positions; tropical hurricanes cause our cold waves.

W. T. FOSTER.

May Rely on Democracy.

The third party in Ohio is making a fair start in the hunt for John Sherman's scalp, and the proceedings of their convention at Springfield show that they are not going to make a still hunt of it either. They are going in to beat the bushes with all the noise necessary to start the game. When it is once well started they may rely on the democrats to see that it does not escape.—St. Louis Republic.

Italy's Meanness.

The Italian government refuses to participate in our coming World's fair. This is rather shabby treatment to give to the memory of the late Admiral Colon, known outside of Italy as Christopher Columbus. Columbus was a patriotic native of Italy—but then the Italians are treating him just as well dead as they did when he was alive.—Boston Globe.

Bleat of Ohio Sheep.

The pitiful bleat of the Ohio sheep over the decline in Ohio wool would move the heart of a less-hardened shepherd than Mr. McKinley.—Courier Journal.

Instead of Blaine.

Perhaps, under all the circumstances, it would be just as well to change it to "wool, wool, American wool."—Dayton Times.

THE NELLIE AT HOME.

Weber's Naphtha Yacht Arrives in Toledo—Royal Reception.

Yesterday word was received in the city that Weber's naphtha launch Nellie would leave Put-in Bay this morning for Toledo and would arrive here about 3:30 this afternoon.

The Toledo party on board report a delightful trip, and every one is well.

The Ohio Yacht club has made arrangements to give the tourists and the new craft a royal reception. A committee left for the bay at noon to meet the Nellie, and will escort her in from Turtle Light.

The Nellie was built January, 1890, and her discription is as follows:

Length over all, 53 feet; beam, 8 feet 6 inches; depth of hull, 4 feet 2 inches; draught, 3 feet 2 inches; oak frame with keelson, cedar planking (except the the two strakes on each side of keel), copper fastened, hull painted white outside; 16 horse power naptha motor; air pump and chamber arranged to blow whistle forward; bilge pump on engine bulkhead; decks, white pine caulked, oak plank shear and oak coaming with mahogany crowning; wood work of cabin, mahogany; raised panels, polished; brass chocks and cleats fore and aft, brass rails fore and aft, brass sockets for flag poles, American yacht ensign and private signal, flag poles, name in brass letters each side of bow, brass hawser plate, two short hawsers connect with ring bolt fore and aft, 75 pound anchor and 100 feet rope, brass tipped boat hook, three brass sailing lights (red, green and white, with screens for same), brass lantern for engineer, two brass swinging candle holders or pilot house, two for each state room, one each for lavatory and dressing room, two for galley, six cork filled fenders, six cork life jackets, water tank under after deck to connect with lavatory and also with spigot on bulkhead aft, refrigerator, dish pantry and dresser; linoleum for floors of pilot house, toilet room, galley and engineer's compartment; Wilton carpet for cabin, plush covered hair filled mattress, cushions for state rooms with four pillows to match, damask draperies for windows, cushions for pilot house and engine room (cork filled, leather covered), bells and pulls for signaling engineer, electric bells for cabin, steering wheel or lever with chain, mahogany folding table, oil stove for galley, Bishop's patent yacht water closet, folding ship wash basin, brass binnacle, removable canvas curtains to enclose engine compartment.

LATER—A dispatch received to-day from Put-in-Bay states that the Nellie started at noon for Toledo and will reach here about 5 o'clock this evening. A large number of the members of the Ohio Yacht club went to Presque Isle this afternoon and from there they will meet the new yacht and give her crew a reception at the O. Y. C. club rooms.

AFFAIRS IN FINDLAY.

The Second Regiment Preparing for Camp.

Work of the State Board of Equalization Discussed—The New Railroad.

Findlay, O., Aug. 8.—(Special)—The citizens are feeling good over the fact that the state board of equalization has condescended to make slight reductions in the decennial appraisement. On the farm lands it was but five and five-hundreths per cent. and on city property 10 per cent. The Hancock county portion of Fostoria was reduced in the same ratio as farm lands. Hon. B. F. Hyatt can hardly lay claim to any credit for this slight reduction.

"Two Old Cronies."

Dr. Rawson, of Des Moines, Ia., is the guest of his brother, Dr. Rawson in this city. The former is 95, the latter 93, and a third brother, Dr. L. Q. Rawson, of Fremont, died about a year ago, aged about 90. These three brothers at one time bore the distinction of being the three oldest physicians known to this part of the country.

Reached the Clover Leaf.

The track layers of the Findlay, Ft. Wayne & Western road expected to reach Evansville, O., by the end of this week, when the connection is to be made with the Clover Leaf route, which will give the new road a fine outlet to St. Louis and all points in the southwest. It is now thought the new line will be pushed through to Fort Wayne before the close of the year. Our citizens have great faith in the outcome of the line.

Off for Camp.

Co. C, of the Second regiment of the O. N. G., with a full quota of men under the command of Capt. Davis, will leave on Monday morning to attend their annual encampment to be held at Bowling Green. The boys have been attending strictly to drilling and go into camp in fine shape. They also have just received fine new dress uniforms.

CAMP SMITHKNIGHT.

Battery Boys Having a Good Time.

"D" from Toledo Cutting Quite a Figure—Location of the Camp.

McConnelsville, O., August 8.—(Special)—The second day of the annual field encampment of the First regiment, light artillery, opened with Captain J. G. Kennon acting as officer of the day.

Battery D, of Toledo, with Captain G. Roulet commanding, arrived in camp at 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

They were met at Newark and Zanesville by the other companies and the population of the small city of McConnelsvillewas doubled when the regiment of 500 men arrived with the First regiment band from Cleveland.

They were met at the depot by a large delegation of citizens.

A march was made of the principal thoroughfares to the camp grounds, which are located on the old McConnel farm on the banks of the Muskingum river.

The grounds on three sides are surrounded by large hills.

The camp is known as Camp Smithnight, in honor of ex-Col. Smithnight, and is in charge of Col. Brush, of Zanesville, Lieut.-Col. E. O. Dana, of Cincinnati, and Maj. O. J. Hopkins, of Toledo. There is in camp 500 men, 38 absent with leave, four without.

The two candidates placed in nomination for junior major last evening were Capt. J. B. Ewert of Battery F, and Capt. J. G. Kennon of Battery E.

Sunday will be a great day in camp. First in the morning will be inspection by Lieut. Squire, of the Third artillery of the United States army, and Col. Coit assistant adjutant general.

Religious services will be held in the park a short distance from camp, to which all are ordered to be present, and in the afternoon will be devoted to visiting, as the railroads entering will run excursions to the camp, and the First regiment is to be honored by Gov. Campbell and his staff.

The companies in camp are A. of Cleveland, in charge of First Lieutenant A. M. Connel, with 61 men; B. Cincinnati, 49 men, Charles G. Pollocks, captain; C. Zanesville, 57 men, Captain A. H. Leslie; D. Toledo, 60 men, Captain Geo. Roulet; E. Springfield, 62 men, Captain J. G. Kannon; F. Akron, 51 men, Captain J. C. Ewert; G. Marietta, 64 men, Captain D. Dow; H, Columbus, 55 men, Captain Fanning.

Take It Out in Voting.

Farmers have to put up with 26 cents for wool instead of the 40 cent wool that McKinley promised to give them under his great tariff. They can just charge the difference of 14 cents up to McKinley and take it out in voting against him this fall. —Troy Democrat.

The Rutland division of the Central Vermont railroad crosses the mountains at Mount Holly, Summit Station being 1,440 feet above the sea. Near that station, when the railroad was building, the tunnel of a large elephant were dug up, and they are preserved to-day in the Vermont state capitol—and says is the skeleton of a whale, 140 feet in length, which was discovered in 1849 in the town of Charlotte while some excavations were being made. This was 150 feet above sea level and sixty feet above the level of Lake Champlain.

CLOSING THE JUBILEE.

Palmer Installed as Commander-in-Chief.

General Order No. 1 Issued from Headquarters.

Reports of Committees—Monuments to Logan and Sheridan—Amendments to the Rules—General Mention.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 8.—At the opening of G. A.R. encampment yesterday the first business was the report of the committee on John A. Logan, Phil Sheridan monuments. Logan monument fund now reaches about $65,000 and is closed. For the Sheridan they have $50,000 in hand.

Gov. Oglesby, of Illinois, reported satisfactory progress for committee on memorial hall at Decatur, Ill.

Gov. Oglesby, of Illinois, reported satisferals and other official reports were approved. Past commander-in-chief Burdett, of Washington, presented reports on a variety of subjects, deprecating in particular the action of members in endeavoring to secure the influence of the organization toward any interference in matters belonging to various departments of the governments by the G. A. R.

The same committee reported adversely on a communication from the Sons of Veterans, desiring closer connection with the G. A. R. An amendment to the rules and regulations was adopted, by which posts can change their location by a two-thirds vote of the members. An amendment was also adopted permitting department encampments to be held as late as July 1. The amendment permitting the election of department officers in December was defeated.

The attempt to change the rules so as to read "Those who did not voluntarily bear arms against the United States" were entitled to membership of the G. A. R. was defeated. The per capita tax, which yesterday was established at 3 cents, was to-day reduced to 2 cents.

The grand officers were then installed by past commander-in-chief Beath, of Philadelphia.

Commander-in-Chief Veazey, turning over the command of the Grand Army of the Republic to commander-in-chief-elect Palmer, said: "It is now my privilege and pleasure and duty to present you your commission, and, in doing it, I desire you will take with it my best wishes, as I am sure you have the best wishes of not only the representative comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic, but of the entire body throughout the length and breadth of the land, for a successful administration, filled with pleasure and prosperity." (Applause.)

Commander Veazey presented the head of the organization the new flag and continued: "I now hand you the new flag of the Grand Army of the Republic. (Cheers.) We have marched under our old flag now for a quarter of a century, and it is so worn that it is not safe to use it any longer, and on the silver anniversary of our order this new one has been obtained. I give it into your hands to be guarded as for 25 years the old one has been guarded by your predecessors. I am sure it will be safe in your hands, because behind you will be 500,000 men who will stand by you and by this flag." (Cheers.)

In response the new commander-in-chief said: 'Comrades: Let me briefly say I accept this office with a heart of gratitude to the comrades who have chosen me for this high position, and I hope that when I have reached the end of my term of office I may leave as clean a record behind me as the comrade who has served you during the past year." (Cheers.)

The committee appointed to take action on the death of Gen. Sherman, Admiral Porter and ex-Vice President Hannibal Hamlin and Past Commander Charles Devans, reported appropriate resolutions.

The encampment then adopted by a rising vote a resolution of thanks to the local committees in charge of the encampment, arrangements and the citizens in general for the courtesies extended to the veterans.

The council of administration met this morning and transacted some routine business. The annual salaries and expenses were voted the same as last year, and appropriation was made for keeping in repair the cottage at Mount McGregor.

After the usual resolutions to the encampment officers, the 25th national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was adjourned till the encampment at Washington in 1892.

The following national council of administration of the Grand Army of the Republic has been elected:

Alabama, A. W. Folgerham, Birmingham; Arizona, Wm. Christie, Phoenix; Arkansas, Isaac Parker, Ft. Smith; California, Magnus Tait, Los Gatos; Colorado and Wyoming, John A. Cooke, Greely; Connecticut, John C. Clark, New Haven; Delaware, William J. Blackburn, Wilmington; Florida, J. D. Hazzard, Eustis; Georgia, Alfred Guiton, Augusta; Idaho, George L. Shoup, Salmon City; Illinois, H. S. Dietrich, Chicago; Indiana, Chas. H. Meyerhoff, Evansville; Iowa, L. B. Raymond, Hampton; Kansas, J. D. Barber, Girard; Kentucky, J. H. Browning, Louisville; Louisiana and Mississippi, Chas. K. Lincoln, New Orleans; Maine, Washington Cushing, Ft. Croft; Maryland, Alfred S. Cooper, Baltimore; Massachusetts, Wm. H. H. Colin, Boston; Michigan, B. F. Graves, Adrian; Missouri, J. B. Milner, Springfield; Montana, Patrick E. Fisk, Helena; Nebraska, John H. Ehrhardt, Canton; New Hampshire, Benjamin F. Clark, Conway; New Jersey, M. K. Kinrey, Camden; New Mexico, Philip Mothersil, Engle; New York, R. F. Kniff, Saratoga; North Dakota, W. H. Winchester; Ohio, Ed. S. Grant, Middleport; Oklahoma, C. D. Munger, Oklahoma City; Oregon, D. B. Tuttle, Portland; Pennsylvania, William McClellan, Pittsburg; Rhode Island, A. G. Huntoon, Washington; Rhode Island, Henry C. Luther, Providence; South Dakota, E. W. Caldwell, Sioux Falls; Tennessee, W. J. Smith, Memphis; Texas, Dr. R. C. Stoddard, Houston; Utah, C. O. Fairworth, Salt Lake; Vermont, D. J. Safford, Morrisville; Virginia, W. H. Aspenwall, Morton; Washington and Alaska, Frank Clendennin, Tacoma; West Virginia, C. W. Hart, Buchanan; Wisconsin, E. A. Shores, Ashland; Indian Territory, Robert W. Hill, Muskogee.

The new commander-in-chief, John Palmer, issued his first general order today, as follows:

Adjutant General's Office.
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7, 1891.

General Order No. 1:

1. Having been elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic by the 25th national (silver anniversary) encampment, held in Detroit, Mich., August 6 and 7, 1891, I have accepted the trust imposed upon me, with the earnest hope that the grand work of the order in which we are all engaged may be promoted under my administration.

2. The other officers elected and appointments upon the staff will be announced in future orders.

3. Till further notice, all communications for the adjutant general will be addressed to Rutland, Vt.

(Signed) John Palmer,
Commander-in-Chief.

Official: J. H. Goulding,
Adjutant General.

The Woman's Relief Corps convention this morning was occupied with committee reports. The following officers were elected: National president, Mrs. Sue A. Sanders, Delaware, Ill.; senior vice president, Margaret R. Wiggins, Sabatha, Ks.; junior vice president, Mary Lyle-Reynolds, Covington, Ky.; treasurer, Amelia A. Cheney, Detroit, Mich.; chaplain, Mrs. Clara Barton, Washington.

The Race Question.

The race problem in the G. A. R. ranks is by no means settled, but is exactly where it was before the encampment. Leading G. A. R. men from the south say they will continue to exclude the colored men from their posts and departments. Thus, if the right of the blacks to membership is to be protected, the national encampment must lay a strong hand upon the southern departments. Many doubt that this can be done under the constitution of the organization, and then the struggle which would ensue would cause a scandal which is much dreaded. Southern white men declare that they would leave the G. A. R. before they would submit to association with their fellow soldiers of darker skins. It would be a strange event in history if the few union soldiers of the south, who fought to put down secession, should get up a little secession movement of their own simply because they object to equally brave soldiers of another color. Commander Hodges, of the department of Louisiana and Mississippi, who is responsible as much as anyone for all this trouble, spoke to the correspondent as follows: "The position with us is that a number of colored men have what they suppose are legal and valid charters, but they are not. They have been working under these and forwarding their dues to the commander-in-chief, in accordance with a direction of Past Commander-in-Chief Alger, who gave this order to settle the matter until the national encampment had a chance to act.

"We southerners are the ones who would give the blacks their right to membership, and the northerners are keeping them out. These colored men claim to be members of the G. A. R., but they have been refused admission to this encampment. If they had departments of their own, it would be all right. The only thing the colored men can do now is to go home and frame their so-called charters, hang them up and look at them. They can't get charters from our department, which is the only body with authority to grant charters in our jurisdiction. We don't want the colored men in our posts, and we won't have them."

THE PRESIDENT'S JUNKET.

His Next Trip to be Through Vermont.

A Program Arranged so as to Allow Ben to Boom Himself for a Second Term.

Rutland, Vt., Aug. 8.—President Harrison's tour through this state promises to be marked by a succession of public demonstration from the time of entrance to his departure. As now made up the itinerary contemplates the president's leaving Saratoga, N. Y., by special train on Tuesday, Aug. 25th, arriving at Rutland at 11:30 a. m.

A stop of half an hour will be made at this station when the president will leave for Burlington, which place he will reach at 2:30. At Burlington the president will be the guest of Senator Edmunds and will remain there about two hours. The trains will reach St. Albans at 5:15.

At this place President Harrison will remain over night as the guest of Gov. Smith. At 7:30 a. m. Wednesday he will leave St. Albans for Rouse's Point, N. Y., and take a trip on the steam yacht Alfreda, as the guest of Dr. Wm. Seward Webb. It is expected that the party will make the trip of Lake Champlain in a little more than two hours, arriving at Burlington at 11:40, where a special train will be in waiting which will take the party to Montpelier, arriving there at 1:15 p. m.

The president will inspect the state house and hold a reception if the legislature is then in session. He is expected to leave the capital at 3:30 p. m., reaching St. Johnsbury at 6 p. m., where he will be the guest of Col. Franklin Fairbanks over night.

Thursday morning the president and party will leave for White River Junction. The president will attend the meeting of the Vermont Road and Horse Breeders' association in the afternoon, and will leave for Bellows' Falls at 2:30 where a stop of 15 minutes will be made, when the train will proceed to Proctor, which place will be reached at 6:45 p. m.

The president will be the guest of Secretary Proctor for a day or two.

The trains on which the president will travel will make short stops at all important intermediate points along the various routes.

LOCAL LABOR NEWS.

Labor Day Demonstration—Woodworkers Elect Officers—Notes of Interest.

The dissensions between the Building Trades council and the Central Labor union over the arrangements for Labor Day may prove disastrous to the success of the demonstration unless something is done to tide over the difficulty. A joint committee, three from each body, should be appointed with full power to act in the matter.

Last evening the Woodworking Machine Hand's union slected the following officers: President, Jos. Murphy; vice president, William Green; secretary, Frank Neithart; financial secretary, Thomas Fitzgerald; treasurer, Wallace Aspinwal; past president, Will Winans. The union has joined the International Association of Woodworkers.

Elaborate arrangements are being made by the Knights for their outing at Put-in Bay on Labor day. The event promises to be a pronounced success.

DRIVEN FROM THE STATE.

White Women and Negro Lovers.

A Party of Thirty Men Give Them a Severe Beating and Send Them North.

New Orleans, August 8.—News comes from Wesson, Miss., of the flogging of two white women by a party of white men on Wednesday night.

The women came from the north and were known as Agnes Reardon and Mamie Haspel. The women often visited a cabin in the outskirts of the town at which two negroes were frequent visitors. A notice was posted on the door of the cabin warning the four to leave town.

They did not heed the warning and on Wednesday night a party of thirty men went to the cabin and knocking down the door entered and captured the inmates.

They were stripped to the waist and bound to trees. The thirty men then took turns in flogging the bared backs with a blacksnake whip, every stroke bringing blood.

The women received forty-five to fifty lashes each, when they fainted from pain. The men took the terrible punishment better and were given a larger dose.

After the women regained consciousness they and the two men were allowed to return to the cabin and dress. Then they started north on the railroad track.

FULTON COUNTY POLITICS.

Democrats, Republicans and Prohibs in the Field.

Al. O., Aug. 8—[Special]—Politics are are warming up in Fulton. The republihold their nominating convention at Wauseon, Monday, August 17th and the prohibitionists the next day at Delta. The democrats hold theirs at Wauseon, August 24th. The question who shall be nominated for representative is exciting considerable interest. Just whom the democrats will nominate, is not now apparent.

From present indications, L. G Eby will be the republican nominee for that position and George Gasche the nominee of the prohibitionists.

Mr. Eby is a well-to-do farmer, aged 57 years—born in Ohio. He has been auditor of our county a number of terms. He is anxious, we think, for the position.

Mr. Gasche is also a well-to-do farmer. He was born in Germany 72 years ago, came to Fulton county 50 years ago. He has been commissioner of our county and has ever been popular with our people.

PANIC ON SUMMIT STREET

Caused by the Breaking of a Trolley Wire.

A Live Wire Paralyzes Two Horses and Damages a Building—Blockade on the Line.

There was a panic among the wayfarers on Summit street for several minutes this forenoon, caused by the breaking of one of the electric street car wires.

Just as an electric car reached Mockett's, between Madison and Jefferson streets, there was a sharp report, and as quick as a flash of lightning two horses dropped to the street, and there was the crashing of falling brick, mingled with the scream sof women and children.

The cross wire attached to the building of Davis Bros., notion dealers, had broken, and the full current was turned on the building with the result that in wrenching the wire from its fastening in the wall, it pulled down a section of brick.

In the meantime the two horses lay as if dead. One belonging to Mr. T. F. Degnan seemed only stunned, as the wire had simply struck him and glanced off. In the other case, however, the live wire lay across the form of the prostrate animal and none dared touch it. The horse appeared to be dead.

A minute later the Consolidated electric wagon dashed up and a member of the crew, taking in the situation at a glance, jumped from the vehicle, and with his rubber gloves, removed the wire.

The horse opened his eyes, stretched himself, and rose to his feet, apparently uninjured. He belonged to the Wells-Fargo Express company, and was hitched in front of their office.

The street became packed with people, and a line of cars, about twenty-five in number, caused a blockade from Adams to Monroe street, on Summit.

The excitement was great while it lasted, but ten minutes after the accident occurred the blockade was broken and the cars were again running.

Mr. O. Davis, of Davis Bros., said to a Bee: "I was sitting at the window looking on Summit street, when I felt a sudden shock, and when the brick began falling I thought the house was coming down."

Many people had narrow escapes from the falling brick, and as the sidewalks were crowded, it being the shady side, it is a miracle that some one was not injured by the broken wire.

The way in which the repair crews bustle to the scene of an accident lays over the fire department, and they are workers in an emergency.

THE CHOSEN FRIENDS

Conclude Their Business and Go Home.

At the state convention of Choosen Friends held in Turley's Hall yesterday, the following committees were appointed:

Credentials—J. C. Buck, Dayton; C. C. Laug, Fostoria; Lizzie Judkins, Toledo.

State of Order—P. Baum, Creston; R. C. Allen, Dayton; Joseph Newson, Tiffin.

Miscellaneous Business—Isaac Seger, Bettsville; S. N. Sherman, Toledo; E. R. Smith, Canton.

The committee made their reports in the afternoon.

After the reports had been disposed of the election of a representative to the grand supreme council was held, which resulted in the election of J. C. Buck, of Miami Council, No. 29, Dayton. The grand supreme council meets in Washington, D. C., September 8.

S. W. Sherman was elected D. D. S. C., after which the convention adjourned to picnic at Presque Isle.

A pleasant time was enjoyed by all. Most of the delegates returned home this morning.

T. P. Linn, supreme recording secretary, of Indianapolis, and J. P. Vannaest, supreme marshal, of Wooster, were in attendance at the convention.

SKIN DARK AS COAL

Eczema Afflicts a Well-Known Gentleman. Pitiable Subject to Look Upon. Suffered Terribly. Whole Body Covered.

Given Up by San Francisco Doctors. Might Have Saved $600, as He Was Cured for $6 by Cuticura Remedies.

I have many times studied over what CUTICURA has done for me; it has restored me to good health and happiness, for before I tried CUTICURA REMEDIES I was given up by all the doctors in San Francisco; but if I had only taken a certain gentleman's advice and tried CUTICURA REMEDIES sooner, I should certainly have saved from $500 to $600. I was a most pitiable subject to look upon with eczema, and suffered terribly. I was almost as dark as coal from my instep up to my knees on both legs, and after that it broke out all over my body; but after using half a dozen sets of CUTICURA REMEDIES I was perfectly restored to good health, and have enjoyed the same ever since (which is for over two years). A great number of people visit my establishment, and I have told hundreds of people what CUTICURA has done for me, but have thought that I ought to write and let you know, so that you can refer any one in this county to me. THE BRIDAL DRESS.

Oh, the rustle to it and the glisten to it!
Pray thee, listen to it.
It is white and bright, with a shimmer of light,
Like the moon on the snow on a winter's night.
'Tis from Worth, they say.
Who is he, I pray?
There are pearls sewn over it,
And the laces which cover it.
Was there ever such lace?—like the dainty white trace
Of the frost on the pane; of such wonderful grace;
Was it ever woven by human hand,
Or was it the gift from a fairy's wand?
Then the orange blossoms, so white and so sweet
Fit to garland my lady from head to feet.
Oh! the whiteness of it.
Oh! the brightness of it.
Yet none too white
Or none too bright.
My bride is the daintiest maid that I know,
The dearest and fairest and sweetest I trow,
Ever told of in song or story,
Ever sung of in tales of glory.
Come weal or come woe,
Nothing fears me, my bride,
The world's before me
And I've you by my side.

There was also an old-time iron fire-dog, much worn.

Few reflect, when they are talking about fat globules, how small a thing a fat globule is. Of the largest of them, laid along in a row, it would require 1,500 to measure an inch. Of the smallest of them, 27,000 laid in a line would no more than cover an inch. The largest has 6¼ times more diameter than the smallest and 224 times more volume. In a drop of milk the size of a pin's head there are from one thousand to four thousand fat globules. The average number of fat globules in a quart of milk is estimated at two thousand billions—2,000,000,000,000!

THE STATE OF TRADE.

A Hopeful Feeling in Business Circles.

Some Great Industries Continue Sluggish—Slow Collections—General Review.

New York, Aug. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: With business in many lines disappointingly dull, the feeling of confidence nevertheless distinctly increases.

The belief increases that the country will be able to sell such vast quantities of grain abroad, and to draw so heavily upon foreign supplies of capital, that all home industries will be greatly stimulated. Monetary difficulties are still in the future, for though at some southern points markets are tight, supplies at western centers are adequate for legitimate business and mere speculation gets less help than usual.

Depression in some great industries continues, and is real, but may be traced to causes obviously not permanent. Thus the iron manufacture is obviously set back by inability of railroads to make purchases, because they fail to negotiate securities. Cotton manufacture, retarded by the extraordinary fall in the price of cotten and consequent loss on goods made from material purchased early in the past year, still finds a fairly large demand, and at some reduction in prices most goods are moving freely.

The wool manufacture is distinctly improving. In men's wear goods there is more encouragement, and many western buyers now here have from home advices that goods are selling more freely. Spring orders are still short of the usual amount, and last year clothiers bought too much cheap low grade goods. In dress goods fair commission business is seen, domestic products largely taking the place of foreign.

Reports from other cities reflect a growing confidence in the future. At Boston trade in merchandise increases and is very good for boots and shoes, with factories well employed, and western and southern reports are quite favorable. With active trade in wool and better in goods, the close money market causes some embarrassment.

At Philadelphia in most trades there is much complaint of slow collections; at Pittsburg manufactured iron is fairly active and the glass trade good, but collections rather slow. At Cleveland trade is enlarging with confidence, and at Cincinnati the furniture trade is especially growing, but at both cities collections are but fair. Chicago feels the effects of great crops distinctly, wheat receipts being seven fold last year's, rye five fold, barley two fold, wool nearly double, and in corn, beef, butter and hides some increase appears, as also in sales of dry goods. Sales of clothing and shoes are larger than ever before at this season, and in all lines collections are satisfactory.

At other western points the crop prospects are almost everywhere mentioned as unsurpassed, and at St. Louis the demand for money in the interior grows more pressing and commercial borrowers are held closely to their needs. At Minneapolis and St. Paul, Omaha and Kansas City, trade is generally good; at Louisville and Nashville improving, and at Montgomery the demand for goods is fair but creditors very conservative, while at Memphis and Savannah reports of trade are less favorable, and at Jacksonville business is very dull.

Unfavorable weather has strengthened cotton at New Orleans and the demand for sugar is good, with rice strong and money in good demand, but with supplies ample for legitimate trade.

Prices of commodities are going down and for the first time this year the general level is lower than a year ago, having declined 1-2 per cent. the past week. Wheat has fallen 3-4 of a cent in spite of exports greatly exceeding last year's, and the enormous western receipts make constantly repeated assertions that the alliance can hold back wheat appear ridiculous. Western estimates, not usually extreme, now allow from 585,000,000 bushels upward for the crop, while even moderate eastern estimates make 200,000,000 bushels for export. Corn is 1 1-2 cents lower; pork produces a fraction lower; coffee an eighth and oil 1 cent lower.

Financial prospects have not changed and though money on call is cheap, commercial loans are made with caution. Large failures have occurred, but none threatening financial disturbance. The tone abroad is less strained, and the Bank of France has gained gold largely, but pressure in Europe must result if needs for breadstuffs are as large as is supposed. Foreign imports of merchandise in New York in July fall 19 per cent. below last year, while exports largely increase. The demand for money to move crops begins to be felt by many banks.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 231 as compared with a total of 247 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 208.

THE PEOPLE'S THEATER.

Opening of the Popular Resort on Monday Evening.

Max Fehrman, supported by a full company of competent artists, will appear at the People's next week in Fred Maeder's representative Hebrew comedy drama, Uncle Isaacs.

Mr. Fehrman is too well known to need any especial commendation in advance, and if his company is what it is purported to be, the opening week at the People's will be a howling success.

The specialties attendant upon the performance are new and will add charm to it. May Russell's Burlesque Company.

A first-class company has been gathered together by Messrs. Simmons and Stumn for their May Rassell burlesque organization, which will be seen at the People's theater the week of August 17. The lovers of burlesque and fun will have a feast during the engagement of this combination. Mr. Bob Slavin, the celebrated comedian, is with the company, also Pauline Batcheller, Ada Henry, Fish and Richmond, J. Marcus Doyle, Terry and Maggie Ferguson, Walter Hyde, Edward Estus, Stewart Sisters, Laura Maxwell, Ray Vernon and a bevy of pretty girls. Special scenic effects are used and all that is necessary to make a complete organization is carried by the company.

Geary's World's Museum,

Which met with such success here last year, will visit Toledo again, Monday, August 10, for two weeks. There will be three shows daily—2:30, 7:30 and 8:30 p.m.—at 10 cents admission; reserved seats being 5 cents extra. This is a place that ladies and children can visit unattended. There are no side exhibitions connected with this establishment, being the only legitimate traveling 10 cent show and museum in the country which presents the same grade of entertainment as a higher priced show.

The attractions this year are all new. Among the big features are: Big Susie, a rival of Big Eliza; Young Sampson, the modern hercules of the world; Master Albert Bleu, "The Two Dromios," Master Fred Kratz, the celebrated trick horses, Sandy and Chief, an educated mule, troupe of acting dogs, Master Fred Kratz, Prof. J. W. Colby's cadet band, and others. At the second week entire new people will appear, the same performers not appearing both weeks.

Barnum & Bailey's Magnificent New Spectacle of Nero.

The average spectacular show, when it deals with a historical subject, is—in point of costume, at least—a jumble of ludicrous inaccuracies. As long as "effects," so called, are obtained everything is lovely. Eighteenth century powder and wigs, armor of the middle ages, the frills and ruffles of the restoration and the buff coats of the commonwealth may form an anacronistic night-mare, but what of that? The management doesn't care, and the greater portion of the public swallows the mixture unhesitatingly.

Now the beauty of "Nero" at Barnum's is that it isn't only brilliantly delightful as a mere spectacle, but is so historically in costumes, in accessories, in methods and in details generally that it is a huge object lesson in ancient Rome affairs.

After one has witnessed the presentation of the great "Nero" spectacle as produced by the Barnum & Bailey show, the splendors of the Roman era under the tyrant remain forever impressed upon the memory. It will exhibit on Saturday, the 15th inst., in this city.

A Young Teacher's First School—The Domestic Question Again—Letters, Gossip, Chat and Recipes.

"SAVIN' MOTHER."

The farmer sat in his easy chair,
between the fire and the lamplight's glare,
His face was ruddy and full and fair.
His three small boys in the chimney nook
Conned the lines of a picture book.
His wife, the pride of his home and heart,
Baked the biscuit and made the tart,
Laid the table and steeped the tea,
Deftly, swiftly, silently.
Tired and weary and weak and faint,
She bore her trials without complaint,
Like many another household saint,—
Content, all selfish bliss above,
In the patient ministry of love.

At last, between the clouds of smoke
"There's taxes to raise, an int'rest to pay,
And ef there should come a rainy day,
'Twould be mighty handy, I'm boun' to say,
T' have sumpthin' put by. For folks must die,
An' there's funeral bills, and gravestuns to buy,—
Enough to swamp a man, purty nigh.
Besides, there's Edward and Dick and Joe
To be provided for when we go.
So 'f I was you, Mirandy Ann,
I'd be savin' of wood's ever I could;
Extra fire don't do any good:
I'd be savin' of soap, an' savin' of lie,
And run up some of the clothes in a while,
I'd be rather sparin' of coffee and tea.
For sugar is high,
And all to buy.
And cider is good enough for me.
I'd be kinder cautious about the cloes,
And look out sharp how the money goes;
Extra trimmin'
'S the bane of women.
"I'd sell off the best of cheese and honey.
And eggs is as good, nigh about, 's the money.
And as to the carpet you wanted new,
I guess we can make the old one do;
And as for the washer an' sewin' machine,
Them smooth-tongued agents, so pesky mean,
You'd better git rid of 'em slick and clean.
What do they know about women's work?
Du the calkilate women was born to shirk?"

Dick and Edward and little Joe
Sat in the corner in a row,
They saw the patient mother go
On ceaseless errands to and fro;
They saw that her form was bent and thin,
Her temples gray, her cheeks sunk in;
They saw the quiver of lip and chin;
And then, with a warmth he could not smother,
Outspoke the youngest, fruitest brother:
"You talk of savin' wood and butter
An' tea an' sugar, all the while,
But you never talk of savin' mother!"
—Harrisburg Telegram.

The advocates of dress reform had their innings at Chautauqua the first week in August. Those who have heretofore sneered at the movement and looked upon it as an agitation by cranks must now revise their opinion. The subject was discussed by hundreds of women who occupy widely varying positions in life, and all of whom favored a reform of some kind which should simplify the art of dress. A central committee was formed, to carry on the agitation, composed of the following ladies:

Mrs. Frank Stuart Parker, Chicago; Mrs. Frances E. Russell, St. Paul, Minn.; Annie Jennesse Adler, New York; Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Anna C. Brackett, Dr. Mary Putnam Jacobi, Miss Grace Dodge and Margaret Sangster.

Here are three editors, and two other well-known writers, a physician, two society ladies, and perhaps all eight may be otherwise classified, as all are busy, useful women. Mrs. Parker is described as the leading champion of the new dress reform, a beautiful woman, always faultlessly attired, who adds to her other accomplishments the gift of persuasive oratory.

Four styles of dress are advocated, the "no skirt," the "old style skirts," the "divided skirts" and the "trouserettes." It is said Miss Willard and the whole National Union will wheel into line in support of the reform movement. It is perhaps too soon to say that any concerted movement will be made for change along any special line, but from all this discussion some good results may be predicted. Support to any sensible dress reform will be generously given by many who will never be heard from in the discussion. The proposition for independence in dress should have the warmest and greatest number of advocates. A fashion magazine for September says "some of the new dress collars are nine inches high in the back." Open rebellion ought to follow such an edict. But dogmatism as to the manner of the reform should be avoided. Here is a general rule laid down, to which the Household can subscribe:

The one desirable thing is that the weight of whatever a woman wears in the line of dress should be suspended from the shoulders rather than from the chest and waist line, and that the circulation should not be interfered with. That shoe which does not disturb the normal action of the muscles of the foot and limbs and leaves the carriage perfectly natural is the true dress reform shoe.

A reader of the Household wants to know something more about women's societies and clubs. There is so much which might be said, one knows not what to omit saying. First, to set aside all mention of those in which women and men both have membership, though there is a large and growing number of these, clubs and societies whose membership is made up of women only are many, and organized for a variety of purposes. To begin nearest home.

Toledo has a suffrage society which is one of the most useful in the state and the most honored for its work in the country. Its purpose is indicated in its name. Then there is a "Woman's Colloquial Club," which is a very informal semi-monthly gathering of ladies to discuss any and every economic and sociologic topic of the day. There are a large number of temperance organizations among the women of the city, and of societies organized for benevolent work. There are culture clubs for reading, and the working girls have two societies of their own, organized, officered and managed by themselves.

This is a sort of dissolving view of the women's clubs and societies of one small city. The picture could be duplicated and manifolded for almost every village, town and city in the country.

The motto of the Woman's Press club of New York city is "Unity, fellowship and co-operation." Writing of it in the August Cosmopolitan Fannie Aymar Matthews says it is "a band of earnest women, actuated in their development into what is called club life by motives than which nothing could be higher, more unobtrusive, more elevating, kindlier or more womanly."

The working girls of New York are organized into societies, the work of that good woman, Miss Grace Dodge, and the societies publish a magazine called Far and Near, one feature of which is a lesson in every number on the government and history of the United States.

One glimpse more—at a Columbus club, called the Ogontz. It was started by a circle of college friends, girl graduates of Ogontz college. They debated the question of how they could reach out a helping hand to other women, and decided to open pretty and homelike rooms and invite working women to use them. They opened the rooms in the thirteenth floor of the Pontiac building, which is in the heart of what is called "the bindery district," among the publishing houses. Every day from fifty to eighty hard-working girls take their lunch baskets to these pretty rooms, and enjoy their noon hour there. Members of the club in rotation entertain them, play the piano for them to dance to its music, show them rare pictures, read to them or furnish them reading. Is this not a lovely picture of usefulness? Who can say how many times evil thoughts have been banished and high aspirations awakened, under the refining influences of these rooms and their associations?

These specimen clubs, remembered at random, show how wide a field these distinctly women's organizations cover. They indicate, also, their usefulness both to members and to others.

It brightens a woman to belong to a good club, broadens her; increases her knowledge and deepens her charity, using the last word in its true sense. This is said to be "woman's century," and we are inclined to think "the club" is one of its perquisites.

THE CHAMBERED NAUTILUS.

"Chat" wants to know "What has become of the Householders and hazards a guess which just about hits the situation of one Householder at least. But excuses are always tiresom and in bad taste, so now for something better. Perish the thought that anyone should "covet our Barbara's pleasure trip." Who would have thought of such a thing had not "Chat" put it into our heads? Not I for one. And are we not all enjoying the delightfully clear crisp accounts of her journeyings minus the sea sickness and disagreeable details?

Although most of the sea reminds me of a very interesting short talk I heard recently about "The Chambered Nautilus," as it is poetically termed, though that is not really its name you know. The wonderful little creature builds its spiral shaped house a room at a time, and when one chamber is outgrown, adds another and larger one.

Still as the spiral grew
He left the past year's dwelling for the new Stretched in his last-found home and knew the old no more.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, author of the poem from which the extract is taken, has said of it: "If you will remember me by 'The Chambered Nautilus,' your memory will be a monument I shall think more of than bronze or marble." Let me give the closing stanza which is sublime, at the same time expressive of a thought which may help us all if we will take and apply it to our lives.

Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free.
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!"

Adrian, Mich. A. C. E.

A TEACHER'S PERPLEXITIES.

Members of the household, will you allow me to come into your quiet little corner, to have a short chat, in order that I may ask a few questions, and by so doing gain some advice?

I am teaching in a little out-of-the-way place, but still there is enough living here so that I have over 30 enrolled, and I tell you it keeps one busy, for they are all, with the exception of three, under the age of 13, and consequently I must keep my eyes on them all the time to keep them out of mischief.

Yet, when I speak to them to try to have them study so that they will not have to stay in to study (as that is the rule, that they must learn their lessons before leaving the schoolroom) they begin to cry. I cannot tell why, indeed they are afraid to have me speak, or ashamed to have to be told or what, but I do know this much, that it is very trying to one's patience.

Then when they come to the class to spell, especially in the A B C class, I pronounce, for instance, "cat," and ask, "Mary, can you spell cat?" "Yes ma'am," "All right, spell it then." "C-a-t, cat," or "Can you spell pig, Johnny?" "P-u-g pig?" Now these, of course, are simply very small specimens of their spelling, and then on being asked to count, they begin, "1 2 3 5 7 10 19 60 90," and so on.

If there is a teacher among you, I would like some advice as to what is the best method of teaching the little ones to read, spell and count. As this is my first term, I sometimes feel quite discouraged and often think I will never try to teach another school in my life. But then I know a bad promise is better broken than kept, and undoubtedly this will be broken.

I went to my boarding place feeling quite disheartened the other day, but I took courage again when I heard that one man had said that his children learned more in one week under my teaching than they had learned in one month before. Don't you think that was enough to encourage any poor, tired and discouraged teacher?

As this is my first visit to the Household and not knowing whether I will be a welcome caller or not, I will bid you a kind adieu and hope to receive some advice before long. PEGGY JANE.

Defiance, O.

THE EVERLASTING QUESTION AGAIN.

Well, well! if the everlasting question has not come up again—so I've concluded to take another little vacation and come down and help "Samantha." It is too bad for every one to disagree with her the first time she puts in an appearance when she simply came to tell us how hard she had tried to practice the very things so many of us had preached about.

Of course it is no more fair to judge the whole class of hired help by the misdoings of one than it would be to judge all mankind as "scamps" because some few are. Neither do I believe Samantha meant it that way, but, rather, simply to prove that all were not worthy of the kindness shown them. Neither would all be worthy or accept of the various plans for their benefit which have been from time to time advanced.

Now, I'm sorry for Samantha, and believe she had a hard time of it, though from experience I know there are good girls, those who are ever interested in what pertains to the good order of the household, and can be both a companion and a servant, for I've enjoyed such service; but moreover I can testify that there are just such ones as we were told about. That is why I know how to sympathize with Samantha.

Then, again, the theories of cultivation and teaching have also been proven in our home. Let me give you a chapter. A poor, ignorant, slovenly girl was employed to help for a few days with extra work. In the meantime her father turned her out doors, and with broken heart she came back to our door early one morning.

We took her in and comforted her as best we could and kept her with us the better part of a year. She was first taught that cleanliness of person was "next to Godliness," which at first was for her quite a hard lesson to learn. She was also taught to wash dishes, so one would know they were clean—and so on from one thing to another about house work—until she could cook and bake, and finally relieve me of considerable responsibility. She was also taught to mend and make and keep her clothes in order (though at first there were not many to keep).

This went on until the whole neighborhood was saying "What a change there has been in Mollie," and there was not a prettier, more neatly-dressed girl in the vicinity.

To-day, she is mistress of a snug little home near by, which plainly shows by its neatness that she is a thrifty housekeeper and that all those lessons were not in vain.

Does not this experience prove that Samantha did not have the right kind of a subject to lavish her kindness upon?
Hoping O. PATIENCE PRIM.

A BOW INCONGRUITIES.

A young woman in a flannel blouse and a lawn skirt.

An ethereal looking little girl making a mouthful of a peach.

A toddling girl in a long black India silk gown and a black hat wreathed with pale yellow feathers.

A man, almost refined looking, who is all attention to the woman with whom he walks and is puffing a cigar in her face.—New York Recorder.

BARBARA'S LETTERS.

It goes without saying that all and sundry of the household are enjoying the letters from "Barbara Moss Abroad." Although the one in the BEE this week is dated at Edinboro', Barbara is ahead of her letters, and writes to the temporary hostess, "I am settled at last for a time in Paris the beautiful." Not to be selfish such portions of this letter as are not business shall be shared with the rest of the Household.

"I wish," writes Barbara, "you could see my hotel 'chambre.' It has polished oaken floor in herring bone mosaic, with an oriental rug and a canopied bed not unlike (in fashion) the one in Marie Antoinette's chamber, all made in Scotch linen—not fine but pure, a black marble mantle with quaint little grate beneath and life size mirror above. The French are lavish with mirrors, they make 'em. Walls are papered with blue and gold, woodwork white, windows double doors, nearly to the height of the room, lace curtains with drapery outside (or rather inside). There's a Louis XV clock on the mantel and some 'Vesuvius' vases. My mahogany (finish) dresser never had any knobs on its drawers. You put the key in the keyhole and jerk them open. I have sunshine and plenty of fresh air (the door-windows), am on the third floor.

"And for all this magnificence! I pay 45 francs ($9) a month. Towels, candles (in brass candlestick) service (man makes my bed, empties my slops and waxes the floor) meals, baths and all etceteras itemized in the bill as extras."

WHAT A BABY CAN DO.

It can beat any alarm clock ever invented in waking up a family in the morning.

In a given time it can smash more dishes than the most industrious servant girl in the country.

It can fall down oftener and with less provocation than the most expert tumbler in the circus ring.

It can choke itself black in the face with greater ease than the most accomplished wretch that ever was executed.

It can keep a family in a constant turmoil from morning till night, and night till morning, without once varying its tune.

It can be relied on to sleep peacefully all day when its father is in town, and cry persistently at night when he is particularly sleepy.

It may be the naughtiest, dirtiest, ugliest, most fretful baby in all the world, but you never can make its mother believe it, and you had better not try.

It can be a charming and model infant when no one is about, but when visitors are present it can exhibit more bad temper than both of its parents put together.—Answers.

THE AIR BATH.

Every woman has evil hours when she is too restless to keep still and too dull and heavy to do anything. She says she is nervous. Her color loses its freshness, her eyes their brightness, her expression all its delicacy. She looks a coarser and less intelligent individual. Now, the latest remedy proposed for this distemper is the air bath.

Lock your doors if you would test it the next time the blues declare themselves, and disrobe entirely, taking an air bath, in the sunshine if possible, for five or ten minutes. This will act as a total alterative to the oppressed, restless state of the nervous system. It does better than a water bath, which, if one has already been taken in the morning, cannot be always repeated with perfect safety. After the air bath dress again slowly, donning completely fresh linen, and some crisp and rather new gown. The freshness of external attire is infallibly soothing.

Another suggestion worth careful noting when you are jeering and looking dull-eyed and ugly, bears indirectly upon the value of massage. Take your hair down and moisten the scalp thoroughly with some good but harmless hairdressing preparation. Then with the tips of the fingers work the moisture well into the scalp and comb the hair out afterward with slow, soft, regular movements. This is excellent treatment for the hair as well as being incomparably refreshing to the whole person.

If you afterwards do up the hair in some way that differs slightly from the manner customary with you, you will find suddenly that your nerves are more quiet, that your eyes have parted with their dullness and that you look altogether normal once more.—Exchange.

PONGEE APRON.

Ecru pongee is used for this apron, with the edges notched and button-holed in brown silk. The apron is 25 inches long by 24 wide, is rounded at the corners, and shirred to a ribbon belt with a bow. Underneath the notched edge a ruffle similarly notched is set, narrowing toward the top.—Harper's Bazar.

CHAT.

The Household is pleased to welcome Peggy Jane, who is hereby invited to come again and often. If there be, as we think, old-time teachers among the members of the Household, we hope some of them will answer through these columns the questions asked. A "first term" is often likely to provoke a new teacher into promising herself she will never try it again, but we believe Peggy Jane will wisely determine to keep on. The unsolicited opinion that her work is good is undoubtedly a better judgment than her own somewhat nervous feeling of failure. If Chat were to offer advice it would be: Do not expect too much of the little ones; do not look to see immediate results from your work; above all, do not, if you feel discouraged or dismayed, allow the children to see it.

Patience Prim comes bravely to the rescue of Samantha on "the everlasting question," and gives another experience well worth reading. In a letter to Chat she says: "I am tracing Barbara's route on the map, and wish I had Burns' poems to read over again."

In "The Chambered Nautilus" A. C. E. recalls to us one of the sweetest poems that was ever penned, and reminds us of the noble lesson we should never forget, "As the swift seasons roll."

COOKING LESSONS.

A lady lecturer on subjects that are supposed to have an especial interest for women recently said that there was scarcely a village in the land where a competent woman could not earn big wages in giving cooking lessons. In one of her lectures this lady said that there are at least 100,000 bake-shops in this country carried on by men, in which the poorest kind of bread is baked by men. She ventured the opinion that women should make all the pies and cakes for our cities, towns and villages.

If this lady lecturer had added that there is scarcely a village in the land in which a good woman cook could not earn good wages she would perhaps have set the young feminine mind in the right direction. Lectures on cooking are useful, but without practice results are unsatisfactory. Whether this particular lady lecturer can cook as well as she can tell others how to cook is not of much importance; but it is exceedingly desirable that women should take up an industry which holds out such certain results.

It will always be urged against women's fitness for the work that in the past has been done by men that they have not occupied their own province. People will ask why woman has not done the things that were set down for her to do. Housekeeping, including cooking, is certainly not an inferior industry. It affords the widest possible scope for the artistic instinct. An accomplished man cook considers himself an artist. He certainly has a firmer hold on the good things of this world than the followers of most other branches of art. A painter, sculptor, musician or actor may starve, but a cook never. Why have not women cultivated this promising and attractive industry?—San Francisco Call.

KITCHEN CONFERENCE.

Sophocles, that prince of Greek tragedy writers, says a writer in Harper's Bazar, disdained not to offer words of commendation concerning the study and harmonious combination of "proper seasonings." He says plainly, "I like a cook that will cleverly season."

Antiphanes, another learned gentleman of ancient time, gives a "catalogue of seasonings" of remarkable ampleness and variety:

Dried grapes and salt, and eke new wine
Newly boiled down, and assafœtida
And cheese, and thyme, and sesame,
And nitre, too, and cumin seed,
And sumac, honey, and marjoram,
And herbs, and vinegar, and oil,
And sauce of onions, mustard, and capers
mixed,
And parsley, capers, too, and eggs,
And lime, and cardamom, and th' acid juice
Which comes from the green fig-tree besides hard;
And eggs and honey and flour wrapped in fig
leaves,
And all compounded in one savory forcemeat.

Good toast can only be made from good bread.

Bread for toast-making should be two or three days old, light, sweet and friable. If no other than fresh bread can be had, let the slices dry out in an oven of very low temperature before the browning process is attempted.

Table Talk gives this recipe for "Snow Cream:" "Beat the whites of four eggs until very stiff, then add, carefully beating all the while, four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar; add a tablespoonful of fruit syrup, and then stir in carefully one pint of cream, whip to a stiff froth, serve in glasses."

Corrosive sublimate will drive away roaches, but great care should be taken in its use. It is a deadly poison.

Palatable dishes of cold meats are always desirable at this time of the year. The Jenness-Miller Journal gives this seasonable recipe for preparing a "Brick of Potted Beef," which, in an ordinary sized family, will be enough to be served several times:

"Three and a half pounds lean beef chopped fine; 4 crackers rolled; 3 eggs well beaten; tablespoonful salt; teaspoonful pepper. Use thyme or other herb. Mix well and mould into a brick. Cover with bits of salt pork and bread crumbs. Put a coffee cup of water in the pan and baste often. Bake one hour."

Special Low Prices on Pianos at THE WHITNEY-CURRIER CO.
Inasmuch as we have not moved our place of business for more than seven years the expense incident to tearing up and removing every two or three years has been saved. This enables us to give lower prices, better bargains and better goods than any mercantile concern who uses the necessity of moving" as a pretext for offering sham inducements. We shall continue through July and August, this year and next, to offer extraordinary inducements to buyers of pianos and organs to patronize our house. We sell the best pianos made, acknowledged and recognized as such, as well as commoner grades such as offered by our competitors. Our price, whether grade and quality is considered, is lower, by far, than has heretofore been offered by any Toledo dealer or agent.

Special Masters' Sale.

United States of America, Northern District of Ohio.

The Central Trust Company of New York, Complainant, vs. The Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw Railroad Company and others, Defendants, Consolidated Causes. In the Circuit Courts of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western division, and for the Southern District of Ohio, Western Division, and for the Eastern District of Michigan, and for the Western District of Michigan, Southern Division.

In equity.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, entered in the above entitled cause on June 3, 1891, and of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Western Division, entered in the above entitled cause on July 1, 1891, and of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, entered in the above entitled cause on June 29, 1891, and of a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Western District of Michigan, Southern Division, entered in the above entitled cause on June 30, 1891, we, Benjamin F. Wade and Hiram F. Carleton, the Special Masters designated by said decrees, will sell without appraisement, at public auction, to the highest bidder or bidders, in the United States Court room, in the City of Toledo, County of Lucas, and state of Ohio, at three o'clock, p. m. on the 6th day of October, 1891, the mortgaged premises and property mentioned in said decree, and thereby directed to be sold. The same will be sold in the manner and upon the terms hereinafter stated, viz.:

1. Said Special Masters will offer for sale separately that portion of the property of the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw Railroad company known as the Central Division, being the property described in the first mortgage of the Cincinnati, Van Wert & Michigan Railroad company, dated April 14, 1886, together with the proportion of equipment, material and supplies appertaining to such Division which, upon the reference ordered in said decrees, shall be decreed by the court to properly belong to the same, and to be covered by said mortgage. Said property will be offered for sale as an entirety, without appraisement or redemption. No bid will be accepted therefor from any bidder for a sum less than $1,500,000, nor from any bidder who shall not, if requested by the Special Masters, place in their hands, or deposit with them, as a pledge that he will make good his bid, if accepted by the court, the sum of $15,000 in cash, or first mortgage bonds of said Cincinnati, Van Wert & Michigan Railroad company to the amount of $100,000 of principal. 2. Said special Masters will offer for sale separately the property covered by and embraced in the consolidated mortgage of the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw Railroad company, dated December 1, 1886, excluding Central Division above described, together with the proportion of equipment, material and supplies appertaining to the same which, upon the reference ordered in said decrees, shall be decreed by the court properly belong to the same, and to be covered by said Consolidated Mortgage. Said property (excluding the Central Division) will be sold as an entirety, without appraisement or redemption. No bid will be accepted therefor from any bidder for a sum less than $2,500,000, nor from any bidder who shall not, if requested by the Special Masters, place in their hands, or deposit with them, as a pledge that he will make good his bid, if accepted by the Court, the sum of $25,000 in cash, or Consolidated Mortgage Bonds to the amount of $250,000 of principal.

The said Special Masters will use their discretions in respect to which separate parcel shall be first offered for sale.

After having offered said properties for sale separately, as foresaid, said Special Masters will then offer the property covered by said Consolidated Mortgage, including said Central Division, for sale as one parcel, without appraisement or redemption, and if the highest bid received by them for the same shall exceed the aggregate amount of the several highest bids for the two parcels when offered separately, then the whole will be struck off and sold as an entirety to the person making such bid for the whole. No bid for said property as an entirety will be accepted from any bidder for a sum less than $3,000,000, nor from any bidder who shall not, if requested by said Special Masters, place in the hands or deposit with them, as a pledge that he will make good his bid, if accepted by the Court, the sum of $50,000 in cash, or Van Wert First Mortgage Bonds, or Consolidated Mortgage Bonds, or both, of the total par value of $350,000 of principal. The purchaser or purchasers at such sale may, if he or they so elect, be subrogated to the rights of Wilson B. Brown, Receiver, under a certain agreement between said Receiver and the Haskell & Barker Car Company, dated January 18, 1890, for purchase of equipment, upon assuming his liabilities under the same.

Of the price for which said properties shall be sold, there shall be paid in cash, at the time of the sale, a sum equal to the amount of cash deposit before required, and also, at the same time, and from time to time thereafter, such further portions of said purchase price as the Court may direct; and the Court reserves the right to reject any bid, and to take and to sell said premises and property, upon failure of any purchaser for twenty days to comply with any order of the Court requiring payment. The balance of the purchase price so required to be paid in cash may either be paid in cash, or the purchaser may satisfy and make good said balance of his bid, in whole or in part, by paying over the outstanding First Mortgage Bonds and overdue coupons, or either, the outstanding Income Bonds, and the outstanding Consolidated Mortgage Bonds, and overdue coupons, or either, at such price or value as shall be equivalent to the amount that the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon, in case the entire purchase price were paid in cash. The foregoing provisions shall be applicable, whether the purchaser is a party to the cause or not.

Said Special Masters will offer the several parcels for sale in separate parcels, or as a unit. If any bid shall be accepted by the court, and the person making the same shall fail to comply with all the conditions of sale and all orders of the court with respect thereto, the sum deposited by the bidder shall be forfeited, and shall be applied as the court may direct.

Reference is hereby made to said decrees for a more specific description of the mortgaged property therein ordered to be sold, and for further particulars of the terms and conditions of sale.

THE DECIDING GAMES

Of the Tennis Tournament to Be Played Today.

Games Yesterday in the various Leagues—Standing of the Clubs —Amateur Notes.

Yesterday's games at the annual tennis tournament were evenly contested and were witnessed by the largest crowd of the week. The weather was beautiful and the grounds of the Outing club were crowded more than at any time since the state tournament.

In the second class singles Tyler was beaten by Lloyd 6-4.

Wilker won the decision set over Smith 6-2.

Witker and Lloyd played the final round in second class singles Witker lost two sets, 6-3 and 6-3.

In third class singles Viot and Cummings played a deuce set up to 8 all, when Cummings was overcome by the heat. The game was accordingly postponed until today.

Draper was bested two sets by Blair 6-2 and 6-4.

The Coldhams won the third set in gentleman's singles over Secor and Dodge 6-4.

In ladies' singles Miss Bertha Baker defeated Miss Moore, 6-3 and 6-3.

To-day the Coldhams will play Woodbury and Suydam the final rounds.

Miss Bertha Baker will also play Miss Hitchcock the deciding set this afternoon.

These contests will close the tournament, which will be the most successful in every respect of any local tournament ever held in the city.

A luncheon was served last evening after which music and dancing were the order till 10:30 o'clock.

The state tennis tournament will be held at Cincinnati this year, but it has not yet been decided who will officially represent Toledo there. The club is now considering the advisability of selecting a representative who will uphold Toledo's prowess among the cracks of the state.

Tennis Contests.

Fostoria, Aug. 8.—(Special.)—Yesterday afternoon Ross and Phillips, of Fremont, and Jackson and Day, of this city, played a championship game of tennis in this city, Ross and Phillips being victorious. Following is the score:

General Sporting.

Buck Ewing is playing second base for New York.

Milwaukee has a cinch on the Western league pennant.

Old Man Anson won another extra inning game yesterday.

Sullivan, it is stated, will be asked to fight Goddard in Australia.

That anticipated yacht meeting in Maumee bay appears to be dormant.

Comisky's team is making a gallant fight for the Association pennant.

Charlie Morton is getting some good work out of the Rochester ball club.

The Pittsburg team has been one of the surprises of the season. Too many stars.

The Australian pugs in this country are not making the money they expected to.

If the Columbus Ishmaelites get through this season alive they will probably drop base ball.

It is dollars to doughnuts that Cincinnati will not have an association team next year.

Cleveland appears to get along about as well under Capt. Tebeau's management as under Lea diy.

The Speranzas Junior will play the Racers on the old league grounds Saturday for $1 or less. Manager Speranza Juniors.

The Futures are too large for the Speranzas, but if they insist upon playing we will accommodate them about August 23. Manager Futures.

The Futures and Summits cross bats tomorrow on the Union depot grounds for $5 a side, at 1:30 p. m. It will be a hot contest, as they are rivals.

The Ironvills unions will accept the challenge of the Buckeyes for $2.25, on Chicago street grounds at 2 p. m. Sunday, sure. Max Scanlon, Capt.

Werzel's Cadets will challenge any club in the city for Sunday, August 16, providing they leave Flickinger and Rossman from the battery. Manager Werzel's Cadets.

One of the best games of ball will be played Sunday between the Commercials and Foxes for the championship of the city under 17 years. Following will be the Commercials' nine: Schlorf, pitcher; Knierman, catcher; Clark, first base; Sneane, second base; Scannell, third base; Stophlet, shortstop; Lamb, right field; Stroble, left field; Blemaster, center field.

KEEP YOUR SHOESTRINGS TIED.

How It Can Be Done so That They Will Never Loosen.

The low, summer shoe once more graces the pretty foot of the summer girl, and the sound of the trailing shoestring is again heard in the land. When I walk down Fifth avenue in the wake of a young woman in trim tailor made gown or dainty combination of lace or muslin I hear the swish of strings and the tinkle of lines on the pavement rising and falling with each movement of the slim, arched foot.

As she glances uneasily and furtively about her and, when she is quite sure no one is looking, quickly stoops and readjusts the offending tie, my manly heart is stirred with a desire to show her how she may make that tie more lasting than friendship or even matrimony.

It was a very pretty lady who initiated me into the secret of this tie, warranted to hold. Shall I ever forget that she tied my shoe one day on the ocean sands to make the process more clear! I think I may say that had I received a thousand volts of electricity the shock would have been mild to that I experienced. She has since given me the right to tie her shoe for all the time, and I have had the practice that makes perfect.

The simple mystery is this: Proceed exactly as if you were about to tie an ordinary bow knot, but before you draw it up pass the right hand loop through the knot; give a steady and simultaneous pull on both loops, and you may tread the sand of time or the ocean beach all day and waltz into the wee sma' hours of the next and that shoestring will never trip you. In untying be sure to pull the right hand line and the string will readily unloosen, but if you pull the other you will find it as hard to unfasten as some hastily tied matrimonial knots.—N. Y. Herald.

OUR SISTER WORLDS.

Their Movements and Their Phases During August.

Jupiter, says the astronomical writer for the Providence Journal, is morning star, according to technical classification, for he is on the western side of the sun. He is evening star to all intents and purposes, for he rises at 8 o'clock in the middle of the month and continues to be visible until his light is lost in the morning sunbeams. Jupiter easily wins the highest rank on the August annals, and many a tribute of admiration will be called forth by his majestic presence among the stars. He takes on his most interesting aspect, for it is the month preceding his opposition, when his size and brilliancy are increasing, and he rises earlier every evening. Observers will remember his fine appearance last year; it will be finer this year, for he is farther north and drawing near to perihelion. His movement is retrograde, or western, and, as he is near Theta Aquarii, a fourth magnitude star, on the first part of the month, a close observer will see that he is moving westward by the increasing distance between the planet and the star.

Mercury is evening star. Two interesting events occurred in his swift course. He reaches his greatest eastern elongation on the 16th at 7 p. m., when he is 27 degrees 25 minutes east of the sun. This is one of the times in the year when he is visible to the naked eye as evening star. It will, however, be difficult to find him, though he is nearly at his maximum distance east of the sun, for other conditions are unfavorable. He sets at elongation an hour after the sun, is nearly 12 degrees farther south than the sun, the moon is approaching the full, and the glow of twilight conceals his presence. It is barely possible that he may be discovered in the west, 12 degrees south of the sunset point, soon after sunset if the sky be clear as crystal and the atmosphere pure and serene.

The second event in Mercury's course is his conjunction with Saturn on the 18th, at 8:05 p. m., Mercury being 3 degrees, 36 minutes south. The conjunction, or the time when the centre of Mercury and the centre of Saturn are in the same right ascension, takes place at nearly the time when the planets set, about 8 o'clock. Observers must first find the bright star Regulus, which is the planet Saturn, and Mercury will come into view 3 degrees 36 minutes south of Saturn. The search should begin half an hour after sunset, and a marine glass is an almost indispensible aid. The celestial picture will be beautiful enough to reward the painstaking observer. Three days later, when Mercury reaches eastern elongation, he will be farther east of the sun, and Saturn will be nearer the sun.

Saturn is evening star. He makes his last appearance in this role; it is difficult to find him during the first part of the month, and he sets a half hour after the sun when the month closes. His conjunction with Mercury has been referred to. Observers who have access to telescopes will find it interesting to note the forlorn appearance of the planet bereaved of his rings.

Venus is morning star, the last month of her course in that role. It is much to be regretted that she is not farther from the sun for an event of unusual interest occurs in her August path. She comes very near Mars. The conjunction takes place on the 22d at 8:04 a. m., when Venus is one minute north of Mars. The planets approach so closely that it comes the thrilling an occultation, a very rare phenomenon of which the history of astronomy affords few illustrations. If the conjunction could be observed the planets would seem to touch or make an appulse. The event occurs, however, when the planets are below the horizon, and it will make no difference practically, as far as observation is concerned, whether it be an appulse or an occultation.

Mars is morning star. He is commencing his course as morning star, while Venus is completing her course as morning star. The planets must, therefore, be near together and between them, already described, inevitable.

Uranus is evening star. An opera glass will bring him to view about 6 degrees east of Spica.

Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Neptune are morning stars at the close of the month. Mercury, Saturn and Uranus are evening stars.

August is not rich in planetary incidents, although the radiant Jupiter adorns the sky from evening till his light fades away in the coming sunbeams and multitudes of meteors, named for the month, dart from the celestial concave and fade away in gossamer trains of yellowish light as evanescent as they are beautiful. August is the month for studying the stars. Every influence invites to life in the open air, and peaceful contemplation of the twinkling mysteries that people the star depths. Observers may easily learn the names of the principal stars that shine in the August sky, and the same stars will return to the same places on every succeeding August. The bright red star in the northwest is Arcturus; the red star in the southeast is Antares; the star shining alone low in the south is Fomalhaut; the brilliant Vega is nearly overhead; Altair is southeast of Vega; while late in the evening the sparkling Capella comes beaming above the horizon in the northeast. These are the first magnitude stars that are easily found, though Regulus and Spica are still visible in the glow of twilight in the west. Summer resorts afford favorable conditions for observing the stars. They have a charm of their own when seen from the seashore, and they are impressive when viewed from the grand sky reach of rural retreats, but they are at their best when observed from the mountain top or mountain side. The brightest stars shine there like jewels, collections of diamonds, topazes, rubies and amethysts, their light is more tangible, pervading the atmosphere with a celestial influence, which is felt but cannot be described, and, above all, they seem to be nearer, as if the suns of space descended from their infinite heights to hold communion with mortals, while the milky way, the misty pathway that leads to the celestial abode, seems to start from the sky and assume the form of countless cloudlets, through whose impalpable tissue gleam here and there stars tremulous with brightness.

THE AUGUST METEORS.

Old Mother Earth About to Take Her Yearly Plunge.

It is always an interesting event when the earth plunges her ponderous sphere into the gigantic ellipse, known as the August meteor-zone, whose perihelion rests upon that part of her orbit which the earth passes about August 10. She is sure to catch many meteors, for, impinging with immense velocity against the earth's atmosphere, they are set on fire by the concussion, and descend as falling stars. The August meteors are called perseids, because their radiant point is in the constellation perseus, and, says the Providence Journal, it is well to look for them in this region of the sky, the constellation rising in the northeast about 9 o'clock. The perseids have been in existence in their present form for so long a time that the meteors are no longer in flocks, but are widely and equally distributed throughout the whole vast ellipse. They therefore appear in considerable numbers every year, and are not closely confined to a special date. Observers should commence looking for them on the last of July and continue the search for a fortnight. The Perseids are yellowish, move with a medium velocity, and may be known from other meteors by these characteristics. All interplanetary space swarms with meteors. Kepler says that space is as full of meteors as the sea is of fishes. The estimated total daily number of those that enter the earth's atmosphere and are large enough to be visible to the naked eye, is from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000.

The search for August meteors in this belt of the earth's territory on their last appearance in 1890 was not very successful. European observers were more fortunate. At Marseilles an observer counted 40 in an hour on the 12th. At Westgate-on-Sea, England, two observers counted 40 in 40 minutes. At Florence an observer the evenings of the 9th, 10th and 11th, counted 917 meteors. If the weather be propitious, the conditions for the meteoric shower are favorable, the new moon of 4th interfering but little with the show. Zealous observers will continue the quest through the night, the best time for picking up meteors being when the constellation Perseus is on or beyond the meredian.

ATE HIMSELF TO SLEEP.

Caliph, the Hippopotamus, Unable to Finish His Matutinal Meal.

It is not a matter of important news but it is an interesting fact that hippopotamuses can eat themselves to sleep. The male hippopotamus at the Central park menagerie did it this morning.

Mr. Hippopotamus and his wife and child are fed every morning about 8 o'clock on freshly cut grass. As soon as they see the keeper throw the grass into the cage they amble gracefully out of their bath up the slanting stone pavement, the father going into the left hand compartment and the females retiring modestly to the right hand one.

This morning, instead of throwing the customary five bushels into Mr. Hippopotamus' cage, the keeper was unusually munificent and cast in about a quarter of a ton. Caliph, the big beast, took in the situation in one long, lugubrious glance. Accustomed as he was to getting away with every morsel served to him, he saw that he had a big task on hand this morning. He began his breakfast a few minutes after 8 o'clock, opening and shutting his jaws with much deliberation.

The big pile of grass began to disappear slowly, but steadily. When it was about half gone it was noticeable that the animal's jaws did not work with the same regularity that they did in the beginning. He ate in quick chops, with a long pause between each chop, during which he would gaze at the rest of his breakfast in a kind of a hopeless, dazed fashion.

From then on the grass disappeared more and more slowly, the intervals between the bites grew longer, and his eyes assumed a far away, dreary expression, as if he were thinking of his erstwhile haunts along the river Nile.

Finally the bites ceased entirely. The hippopotamus' legs began to shake at the knees, and his eyes became glazed like those of a fish. Then they closed tightly and his legs gave way under him, and with a huge grunt he fell on his belly fast asleep.

The other members of the family had finished long before and had resumed the bath, whence they observed the father and husband's coma with much apparent satisfaction.—New York Sun.

WHAT BRIGHT BOY DID.

He Dug Out Knowledge from a Cyclopedia, and Made It Pay.

The only thing is to take hold somewhere, says Charles Dudley Warner, and to begin to use the art of reading to find out about things as you use your eyes and ears. I knew a boy, a scamp of a lad, who almost needed a high chair to bring him up to the general level of the dining table, who liked to read the encyclopedia.

He was always hunting around in the big books of the encyclopedia—books about his own size—for what he wanted to know. He dug in it as another boy would dig in the woods for sassafrass roots. It appeared that he was interested in natural history and natural phenomena.

He asked questions of these books exactly as he would ask a living authority, and kept at it till he got answers. He knew how to read. Soon that boy was an authority on earthquakes.

He liked to have the conversation at table turn on earthquakes, for then he seemed to be the tallest person at the table. I suppose there was no earthquake anywhere of importance but that he could tell where it occurred and what damage it did, how many houses it burned and how many people it killed, and in what shape it left the country it had shaken.

From that he went on to try to discover what caused the disturbance and this led him into other investigation, and at last into the study of electricity, practical as well as theoretical. He examined machines, and kept on reading, and presently he was an expert in electricity.

He knew how to put in wires and signals and bells, and to do a number of practical and useful things, and almost before he was able to enter the high school he had a great deal of work to do in the city, and three or four men under him. These men under him had not read as much about electricity as he had.—Chicago Times.

Thirty-Ninth Visit.

The fact that Drs. France & Ottman have made 39 professional visits to your city, is beyond doubt the very best evidence of their superior skill in the treatment of chronic diseases. The doctors are no strangers here, and we know personally of many patients who would gladly bear witness to the efficacy of their treatment and the permanency of their cures. We pride ourselves upon being an intelligent community, ever recognizing and liberally rewarding true merit, but quacks and imposters who have ventured in our city, have rarely shown themselves a second time. Drs. France & Ottman do not parade the names of their patients before the public in print, nor use boughten testimonials to advertise themselves, but would be pleased to show the skeptical their record of cases cured, when hope of cure had been abandoned. By their extraordinary success in this practice they have made many friends among those whom they have treated at this place. Socially, the doctors are gentlemen, which, combined with courteous address and strict business integrity, places them far above the would-be competitors in their profession. The afflicted should not hesitate to consult them, and an observance of the crowds that throng their parlors for a single day might well be taken as evidence that such a hesitancy does not exist.—Post.

Drs. France and Ottman, formerly of New York, now of the France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, have decided to visit Toledo, Saturday, August 15. Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in the Private Parlor of the Burnett House from 9 a. m. to p. m.; one day only.

HIGH PRICED PERFORMERS.

Circus Actors Whose Salaries Equal Those of Prima Donnas.

The McKinley bill would not seem to have affected the salaries of the champion circus performers, whatever effect it may have had on other matters. There are three beautiful young ladies, said to be the most daring, original and accomplished bareback equestriennes ever seen, and whose performances on the back of a flying horse astonished the whole of Europe, who receive salaries of positively 8800 dollars per week, almost as much as a prima donna in grand opera. They make their first appearance in this country with Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth, which is advertised to exhibit here on August 15.

These graceful young ladies are known as the Meers Sisters. There are three—Rose, Lillie and Marie—and their repertoire of equestrian feats is simply amazing. Double and single jockey acts, jumping from the ground completely over a speeding horse to the ground on the other side without touching the animal, besides performing all the feats formerly executed by male performers. Considering the brief time they are engaged in performing twice a day one would say their salaries were even larger than those paid in any other business in the world. Some of the other circus, ariel, hippodrome and Nero performers are very high salaried people also, and the various trainers of the animals in the two menageries, the exhibitors of the illusions, the principal actors and dancers in the spectacle of Nero, or the Destruction of Rome, are all exceedingly well paid it is thought. When it is remembered that on the pay roll of Barnum and Bailey there appear the names of 1,200 people an idea may be had of the vast sums required to pay all the salaries. The whole show will be here on the date named, when all can see for themselves the magnitude of wealth it represents in the greatest and best amusement institution in the world. The street parade will take place on the morning of the show's arrival.
